

JUDGE MAHONEY A WITNESS

A NEW INDUSTRY FOR LOWELL

Large Factory to be Erected
Near the Lowell and Chelmsford Line

Through the efforts of President Arthur L. Gray and Secretary John H. Murphy, and the other members of the executive board of the Lowell board of trade, another new industry will locate in this city. During the past three months the Lowell men held several conferences with prospective buyers and yesterday the papers were passed and the deeds recorded at the registry of deeds, whereby ten acres of land on the Lowell and Chelmsford line, in Middlesex street, were purchased, the grantees being F. H. Appleton & Son and the grantors, Mrs. A. A. Coughlin and the Traders National bank. While at present the exact plans for the new industry are not completed, it is said that a large factory 400x70 feet and four stories high will be erected there and work on its construction will soon be started.

CASES HEARD IN POLICE COURT

A Number of Offenders Appeared
Before Judge Enright This
Morning

"Marriage is a failure in this case," said Lawyer Daniel J. Donahue when arguing for the defense in the case of Edward T. Leahy charged with assault and battery on his wife which was heard before Judge John J. Pickman in police court this morning. The case was a peculiar one and after the long drawn out hearing the defendant was found guilty and a fine of $10 was imposed. He entered an appeal, but on advice of counsel he paid his fine.

Telephone Company
The work of installing the switch board in the new building of the New England Telephone and Telegraph company is going along rapidly but will not be ready to be put into operation for three months at the earliest. This means that the company will not move into their new quarters until the first of the year or perhaps even later for the installation of the instruments, etc., is a difficult task and requires considerable time. All the apparatus in the new building is absolutely new since the old apparatus must all be duplicated. This is necessary in order that there may be no interruption in the service and no inconvenience to patrons. The apparatus will be of most modern design and efficiency. It is an interesting fact that the switch board and accompanying instruments and equipment will cost fully as much as the building itself.

SUMMONED TO APPEAR BEFORE THE GRAND JURY IN THE LAWRENCE DYNAMITE CASES

BOSTON, Sept. 17.—Judge Mahoney of the Lawrence police court answered a summons today to testify before the Suffolk county grand jury which is investigating the alleged illegal distribution of dynamite in Lawrence while the mill strike was in progress last winter. Many of the strikers arrested during the disturbances in Lawrence the first of the year were before Judge Mahoney. Frank Butterick of Lawrence, private secretary of Ernest W. Pitman, the Andover mill contractor, who committed suicide when informed that he would be obliged to testify before the grand jury, appeared at the courthouse. Other men who answered summonses included Captain H. C. Kelton of the United States army, John F. Norton and Frank Servilla.

Though work on the excavating for the foundation of the new comfort station to be erected at the corner of Paige and Bridge streets was only started yesterday, great progress has been made and those who had occasion to pass the corner yesterday and again today were agreeably surprised to notice a remarkable transformation in so brief a period of time. Contractor Patrick Conlon, who has charge of the work, realizes that the blocking of the street will inconvenience many and while he has until the third of December to complete the structure, he will rush the construction along, and hopes to have it ready for occupancy before the stipulated time.

HENRY SULLIVAN Lowell Boy Made Good Showing in Race Held in Charles' River Basin

Yesterday
Henry D. Sullivan, Lowell's champion swimmer, won fourth place in the race held in Charles River basin yesterday for the New England Amateur Athletic Union swimming championship. Despite the fact that the Lowell boy is a long distance swimmer and is better at long than short distances, he made a very creditable showing.

The course was in good condition and Sullivan took his time during the entire swim, not exerting himself in the least, while others became winded and dropped out before they covered the course.
George Meahan, the winner of the three-mile event in which Sullivan was a competitor, was also a competitor in the recent race to the Boston Light, but Meahan collapsed after swimming ten miles toward the light, while Sullivan accomplished the feat.
With a field of 11 starters pitted against him, Meahan took the lead at the start, closely followed by Sam Richards of Boston Light fame, and Henry Sullivan of Lowell. For the first half of the distance all the competitors were well bunched, but at the first turning Meahan succeeded in gaining at least 50 yards on Richards, who in turn was the same distance in front of Sullivan. From this point the race resolved itself into a question of just how much the Brookline champion would win by. Richards tried hard to overcome the lead, which Meahan was rapidly increasing, but it was in vain. At the finish the Brookline swimmer finished almost half a mile ahead of Richards who beat Hurley by about the same distance.

Sullivan who was in sixth position at the start worked his way up to fourth place. He used the breast stroke all the way and although he is

DEATH CERTIFICATE Shows That His Mother Died Two Years Ago in Vienna

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Franz Menschik, brother of Mrs. Rosa Menschik, who was drowned in Greenwood lake, Orange county, N. Y., while boating with Burton W. Gibson, a New York lawyer, arrived at New York from Europe today. Gibson, now in jail, charged with Mrs. Szabo's murder, declares that the mother is a waiver of Gibson's purported to be signed by her as beneficiary of Mrs. Szabo's estate, turning the property over to him. Franz Menschik speaks no English. He repeated that his mother had died in 1910 and that he had come here to testify not only against Gibson at the murder trial but at the surrogate's proceedings looking to the removal of the lawyer as executor of his dead sister's estate. He will likely be a witness at Middletown, N. Y., on Sept. 20, when Gibson is arraigned for a hearing.

NEW RULES OF SCHOOL BOARD Are to be Considered at the Meeting to be Held This Evening

A meeting of the committee on rules of the school board is scheduled for tonight at 8:30 o'clock. This will be the first meeting of the board since the election of Supt. Hugh J. Molloy and it is being called for the purpose of approving the new rules which were drafted by the board.
Dr. J. B. O'Connor of the school board when seen by reporters this morning stated that the Pawtucketville school matter may come before the board tonight, but he could not say for sure. The superintendent had nothing to give out.

Work on the Streets
The commissioner of streets and highways started this morning that all the men employed in the street department were busy these days. The alterations consisting of filling of holes in John, Kirk and Paige streets are completed, and the same gang is now working on Broadway near Fletcher street. That portion of Suffolk street between Moody and Merrimack is being macadamized and sometime this week it is expected work will be started on the other end of Suffolk street between Market and Broadway.

Tomorrow the Hay State Street Railway company will start work on laying their tracks in East Merrimack street and it is presumed the employees of the street department will be able to start on the Hassam block paving by Monday. Fairmount and Rogers streets will soon be repaired and put in good condition. The macadamizing and resurfacing Thorndike street from Chelmsford street to Davis square is progressing rapidly, the men being employed in the vicinity of Hale street. Howard street near Hale street is being graveled and at the request of the board of health the culvert in Billerica street is being repaired.

Building Permits
Elizabeth and Annie K. Harmon were given a permit for a two-story addition to their building at 250 Westford street. The addition will be 20 by 22 and the estimated cost will be $1200.

Elizabeth Saunders received a permit for the building of a four-room cottage and an unfinished attic at 242 West Meadow road, the estimated cost being $500.

Mann School Repairs
Bids are being asked for work on closets at the Mann school, the said bids to close Friday morning.

Board of Health Meeting
The regular meeting of the board of health is scheduled for 4:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Llewellyn Street Sewer
Work on the new sewer in Llewellyn street was started yesterday morning and it will be pushed through rapidly. It is a big proposition inasmuch as there is considerable ledge in that section. The approximate cost of the sewer is about $6000.

NOLAN WAS DISCHARGED He Was Charged With Abducting Girl

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Harry Nolan, a newly appointed secretary to the United States legation at Panama, who was arrested recently on a charge of abducting a Scotch girl named Marion McVickar, the daughter of an innkeeper of Glasgow, was discharged today by Magistrate Murphy on a motion of Prosecutor Reynolds who stated that he was unable to obtain evidence necessary for a conviction.
According to Reynolds, the charge rested largely on the age of the girl. Miss McVickar claims that she is 18 years old. Nolan and the girl were arrested shortly after their arrival on the boat from Norfolk. The girl says she met Nolan on the boat. A technical charge of vagrancy against Miss McVickar will be dismissed and she will sail on Saturday for Scotland.

GOVERNOR WILSON

Became a Good Indian at Sioux City
Today—Also Spoke Before Students of Morningside College

SIoux CITY, Ia., Sept. 17.—Gov. Woodrow Wilson became a good Indian today with a proviso, however, that he was not as a consequence a dead Indian. The democratic nominee was elected a member of the tribe of the Sioux, a municipal organization, presented with a diamond pin and publicly initiated before a crowd that thronged the auditorium here.
The governor took the following pledge: "On the sacred tomahawk and pipe I solemnly and sincerely promise and vow that henceforth and forever I shall endeavor to be a 'good Indian,' whether successful or unsuccessful in the quest of moose or any other game and that no matter how exalted my station in life, I shall neglect no opportunity to contribute to the welfare of the Tribe of the Sioux."
The governor also spoke before the students of Morningside college. He said that student life was not taken seriously enough in this country as compared with Europe, but he hoped that students everywhere would interest themselves more with the problems of the nation.

After luncheon Gov. Wilson motored to the interstate fair, where he was to deliver his principal address of the day.

BERTRAM SPENCER ELECTROCUTED

The Murderer of Miss Blackstone
Paid the Death Penalty at
12.18 This Morning

BOSTON, Sept. 17.—Bertram G. Spencer was put to death in the electric chair in the death house attached to the Charlestown state prison at 12:18 this morning for the murder of Miss Martha B. Blackstone, a South College graduate, whom he shot on the night of March 31, 1910, while he was robbing the house of Mrs. Sarah J. Dow in Springfield.

Spencer was retained to his fate, appearing to be confident that his faith in the Christian Science religion would take away all the terrors of the ordeal. He spent his last day calmly reading the Christian Science books and in the service of that faith as it was taught to him by Guy C. Perkins, a reader of the Christian Science church in Springfield, who has been his spiritual adviser. He ate heartily and slept well his last day of life and when called to accompany the prison guard to the death chair he smiled as he had often smiled during his 10 days in the death house, and said calmly, "I am ready."

He dressed himself carefully and was tidy as he has always kept himself during his incarceration. When he walked from his cell to the chair he held his head erect and stepped firmly.

The witnesses to the execution were: Dr. Charles C. Foster, surgeon general; Dr. Joseph I. McLaughlin, prison physician; Dr. A. M. McLean, Sanatorium, assistant prison physician; George P. Magrath, medical examiner; Thomas M. Clancy, representing the press; Rev. Herbert W. Stebbins, prison chaplain; and Guy C. Perkins, Christian Science reader.

The procession to the death house where the death warrant was read to Spencer, began at 12:12. He was taken to a quiet room where he had a substantial supper of scrambled eggs, toast, blueberry pie and coffee.

After finishing his last meal he sent for Deputy Warden Allen and pressed a kiss to the deputy who told the newspapermen that his wife had not called on him during the time he had been confined in the death house. He also expressed the desire that his body should be cremated.

SPENCER AT FIRST DECEASED INSANE AND THEN BROUGHT BACK FOR TRIAL

BOSTON, Sept. 17.—Bertram G. Spencer's case was an unusual one in Massachusetts history. After he had been indicted for the homicide for the commission of which he had been electrocuted Spencer was adjudged to be insane and was committed to the state institution for the criminally insane at Bridgewater.

Public sentiment in Springfield reacted at this disposition of the case and it was made the issue in a political campaign. District Atty. Taft, the republican who had assumed to the settlement of the case by the commission of alibi was defeated on this issue by Christopher C. Callahan, a democrat. After Mr. Callahan assumed the case Spencer was declared sane and was taken back to Springfield to be tried for the homicide.

Spencer's crime was the shooting of Miss Martha B. Blackstone, a school teacher, in the home of Mrs. Sarah J. Dow in Springfield on the evening of March 31, 1910. Miss Blackstone had been dining at Mrs. Dow's, whose two daughters were school teachers.

After dinner the four women gathered about a table in the sitting room, endeavoring to assemble the parts of a picture puzzle. During the evening they had discussed the daring operations of a masked burglar, who for several weeks had entered many homes in the city and eluded pursuit. The women of the city were in terror, the police were mystified and the possibility of trapping or detecting the burglar seemed remote.

The women had barely turned the conversation from the subject of the general alarm over the audacity of this unknown man when Miss Blackstone, hearing the sound of footsteps in the hall, turned her head and saw a masked figure standing in the doorway. With a cry she started to run, when the man admonished her: "Don't run! Don't run! I won't harm you; I want your money."

But this only precipitated the stampede. As the women rushed for the farthest doorway the masked man began to shoot. In her fright Miss Blackstone tripped over the edge of a rug and fell. As she struck the floor the burglar shot her through the heart, death being instantaneous. He fled at Miss Harriet Dow, the bullet fracturing the young woman's skull.

With his features hidden by a black cloth the man ran through the hall out the front doorway, vaulted the piazza rail and escaped before the cries of Mrs. Dow and her injured daughter brought anyone to the scene. Thus, apparently, the burglar had escaped as he had on numerous previous occasions.

while at work and his home was searched. Under the pillow of his bed was found a revolver and two black handkerchiefs perforated to be used as masks. Concealed in the house were 105 pieces of jewelry, bolts and ornaments, many of which were subsequently identified by persons whose homes had been entered.

The evidence against Spencer was overwhelming and he promptly confessed that he was the burglar who for months had baffled the police. He admitted a score of break-ins.

When questioned about the murder of Miss Blackstone Spencer did not deny it, and only explained that he fired at the fleeing woman because their action angered him after he commanded them to stand still. After Spencer's arrest his mother and other relatives brought forward testimony of the abnormal boyhood of the man, and he said he had suffered from pains in the head ever since his father beat him when he was 9 years old.

The family for generations had lived in Lebanon, Conn., and from that town evidence was secured of Spencer's responsibility. A consultation of alibi was appointed by the superior court, decided that Spencer was insane and he was sent to Bridgewater.

In the fall of 1910, Christopher T. Callahan of Holyoke made a campaign against Dist. Atty. Taft and promised, if elected district attorney, to prosecute Spencer. On being elected he began an inquiry into the mental condition of the man, and was assisted by a decision of experts in the employ of the state that Spencer was sane. On Aug. 1, 1911, the prisoner was discharged from the Bridgewater institution and was taken to Springfield for trial on the homicide indictment.

He was placed on trial in the superior court in Springfield on Nov. 13, 1911. In court Spencer's demeanor appeared to support the contention of the defense that he was insane. He raved during the proceedings, and from the dock on several occasions called to the jury not to send him to the electric chair. He had to be restrained by force and several times the court was obliged to take a recess until he had been calmed.

In spite of the testimony as to his insane acts in boyhood and his frenzied outbreaks the jury in the early morning of Nov. 25, returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree. He was sentenced to be electrocuted during the week beginning Sept. 15.

After his sentence Spencer became interested in Christian Science and his principal adviser during the last months of his confinement in the Springfield jail was one of that faith.

In August Spencer's mother and his counsel endeavored to interest Gov. Foss in a petition for commutation, but the governor declined to submit the question to the executive council. Spencer was lodged in the cell in the state prison Sept. 6, where he awaited execution.

Body Removed
BOSTON, Sept. 17.—The body of Bertram G. Spencer of Springfield who was electrocuted at the Charlestown state prison shortly after midnight for the murder of Miss Martha B. Blackstone, a South College graduate and school teacher, whom he shot while robbing a house in Springfield March 31, 1910, was removed to the morgue on North Grove street today. It was arranged to have an autopsy performed at noon by Medical Examiner George B. Magrath of Suffolk county. Preparations were also made to cremate the body as requested by Spencer shortly before his death.

REGULAR ARMY OFFICER
Commissioned in Militia of Bay State

BOSTON, Sept. 17.—Capt. Matthew E. Hanna, regular army, yesterday was commissioned a major in the militia of Massachusetts and attached to the inspector general's department, of which Col. James H. Smyth is the head. It is the first time in the military history of the state at least since the Civil War, it is said, that an officer on the active list of the army of the United States has accepted and been commissioned in the military service of the commonwealth.

Major Hanna, as he will be known to the M. V. M., has many friends in the militia. He was largely responsible for the success of the Essex county maneuvers, in which the militia of the commonwealth took part a year ago and was also attached to the staff of Brig.-Gen. William A. Fow, commanding the Second brigade, M. V. M., in the recent Connecticut maneuvers.

Major Hanna was appointed from Ohio to the United States Military Academy and was graduated an additional lieutenant in 1897. He was appointed second lieutenant in 1897, first lieutenant in 1901, and a captain in the 1904 Cavalry in 1903. He was appointed to the general grade of Major in 1906. He is an officer of the 10th Infantry and Cavalry corps, 1906, and graduate of the staff college, 1907.

Gen. Capelle, who has been given leave until Nov. 1, when he goes on the retired list, has vacated his room in the military department of the state, and Adj.-Gen. Pearson and the newly detailed officer of the army, Col. Morton, will move in.

FEDERATION OF LABOR
May Endorse Some Acts of Gov. Foss

SPRINGFIELD, Sept. 17.—Unionists from many cities and towns in the state continued discussions on labor matters today in the 26th annual convention of the Massachusetts state branch, American Federation of Labor. The attendance was the largest in the history of the organization.

The candidates of Edward S. Allen of Holyoke, member of the Typographical union, and James W. Powers of Fall River, of the Street Car Employees' union, for president to succeed James W. Wall of Worcester, who announced he would not be a candidate for reelection, occupied considerable attention from the delegates. It was believed by many officials that an endeavor would be made to pass a resolution endorsing some of the acts of Gov. Foss.

The officials scheduled to make their reports this morning were not ready when the convention came to an adjournment was taken until this afternoon.

CHELMSFORD

A meeting of those interested in the proposed party movement was held at 5 o'clock last evening. W. E. Allen of 1241, who was chosen chairman at a meeting held last week, presiding, plans for the coming year. The meeting was held at the home of Mr. Allen, 1241, and 1100. It was the vote of the meeting that the number of those serving on the executive committee be increased from eight to 20, said committee to gather later in the week and formulate plans for a rally.

DIRECT PRIMARIES

Are Being Held in New York Today
For the First Time—Nominees Include Candidates For Many Offices

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 17.—The first real test of the new direct primary law will come today when enrolled voters throughout the state will be given an opportunity to vote on the various candidates designated for nomination by party committees and for delegates to the coming state convention. The nominees include candidates for congress, senate and assembly and city, village and county officers.

Under the new law the Progressive party cannot participate in the primaries, but must file nominating petitions with the secretary of state on or before Oct. 11.

The polls will open from 3 p. m. to 9 p. m. Different colored ballots have been provided for the voters, green for the democrats, pink for the republicans, canary for the independence league, and blue for the prohibitionists and built for the socialists.

KIDNAPPED HIS WIFE
Man Got Bride at Point of Gun

GRAND JUNCTION, Col., Sept. 17.—As the police refused to force his bride of two days to live with him, Harry Levaffy, 35 years, at the point of a gun, kidnapped his wife, 18 years, from the home of her father, and escaped with her in an automobile into Utah. Levaffy married the girl Friday evening as a result of a "wad" thrown on the screen of a moving picture show. She left him the next day. Levaffy, late yesterday, called at the home of his father-in-law, W. G. Beebe, and demanded an interview with his bride. He was kicked out of the house. Later with two friends, he drove in an automobile up to his wife's home and broke through the door and held up the family with two revolvers.

Death threats were made to the father-in-law by Levaffy if the girl refused to leave with him. To save her father's life, Mrs. Levaffy climbed into the automobile and was whirled away.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Percy E. Suttle and Miss Abbie M. Whitney were married yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock by Rev. N. W. Matthews at the home of the bride, 49 Blocket street. The best man was Mr. Arthur Suttle, brother of the bridegroom, and Miss Mildred Northrup acted as bridesmaid. The bride was prettily coaxed in a dress of peach and carried sweet peas. Miss Jeanette Gilmore played the wedding march. A number of friends and relatives from out of town were present and the couple received many beautiful and costly gifts. They departed on a short wedding trip, after which they will reside in this city.

LEWIS-WATSON

Mr. Albert Ashton Ludwig and Miss Fannie Rugg Sawyer, both of this city, were united in marriage at 6:30 o'clock last evening by Rev. Charles T. Billings, pastor of the First Unitarian church, the ceremony being performed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Sawyer in Chester street. Mr. Paul Robinson of this city was best man and the ushers were Mr. William Fulton of New York and Walter Robinson of Lowell. The bride was attended by her cousin, Miss Ruth Sawyer, and Miss Hazel Blanchett as the bridesmaids, and her maid of honor was Mrs. Samuel Sawyer of Lowell. Miss Jeanette Sawyer, of Lowell, was flower girl. Intimate friends and relatives of the couple were present at the wedding to the number of about 100 and these also attended the reception which followed. The Page Co. catered. Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig will be at home at 164 Third street after Nov. 1st.

WATERHOUSE-ROBINSON

Mr. Charles Waterhouse and Miss Eva Robinson were united in marriage yesterday at the home of the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Anne Waterhouse, 30 Fifth street, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Selden W. Cummings of the First Baptist church. A number of relatives and friends were present at the wedding. Miss Nora Robinson was bridesmaid and Mr. Thomas Robinson was best man. The wedding march was played by Mr. William Davis. The bride was gown in cream colored silk and carried lilies of the valley, while the bridesmaid wore cream colored crape and carried a bouquet of pink. The house was decorated in cut flowers and palms and presented a pretty appearance for the ceremony. Refreshments were served and the Merriack orchestra dispensed music. After a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Waterhouse will reside in Bridgeport, Conn., the home of the bridegroom.

WAGE INCREASE

For Motormen and Conductors On Bay State Street Railway Company
FALL RIVER, Sept. 17.—An increase in wages of one cent an hour, effective October 4, has been granted the motormen and conductors of the Fall River division of the Bay State Street Railway Co. The new rate will raise from 22½ cents to 23½ an hour. The agreement calls for a further increase of one-half an hour on October 1, 1913.

Taft Had No Callers

BEVERLY, Sept. 17.—There was a lot-up today in the rush of work that has crowded President Taft's vacation and made his summer in Beverly so almost as busy as the days of the White House. No callers were scheduled to see the president and only a few letters were ready for his signature before he started to Myopia for his morning golf game.

HOTEL WORKERS' UNION
Plans a General Strike
in New York

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—A general strike of waiters and cooks that will paralyze every first class restaurant and hotel in this city at the opening of the winter season is the latest plan of the International Hotel Workers' union. A statement by one of the local union officials says: "Election night has been practically decided upon as the psychological moment that will help to bring home to the employers more forcefully than ever the justice of the man's demands. No more strikes in the dull season, like the last one, is the slogan. Strife all over the city. Unless the individual proprietors reach an understanding with the organization of the hotel workers within the next few weeks the men will walk out on election night and prevent the restaurants from feeding the hungry throngs. With the horse show week and the opening of the opera season following closely, the men will have an unusual advantage over the proprietors."

AMATEUR BASEBALL

The C. Y. M. L. defeated the Bleachers Saturday in a splendid game on the North common by the score 6 to 5. The features of the game were the home run drives by Little and O'Brien of the Lyceum team. This game ended the season for the winners.

RESINOL

bad complexions

THE regular use of Resinol Soap, with an occasional light application of Resinol Ointment, stimulates the skin, permits natural, healthy action, and rids the complexion of pimples, blackheads, redness and roughness, quickly, easily and at little cost.

New York, July 11, 1912.—"For about four years my face has been affected with pimples and blackheads. My face broke out so badly that I thought I would never get cured. After trying all sorts of remedies which claimed to heal my face, I could not get any good results, so I sent for a sample of Resinol Soap and Ointment, and after using them for a few trials I noticed that my face was getting a little better. So I got a large cake of Resinol Soap and a jar of Resinol Ointment, and after using them for about three weeks they healed my face so that it is clear and smooth again. I still use the Resinol Soap, as it keeps the pores clean and free from dirt." (Signed) Allan Jones, 3221 Third Ave.

MASKED MEN HELD UP TRAIN

They Entered the Mail Car and Covered the Four Clerks With Pistols

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Sept. 17.—Two masked men held up the Memphis special, west bound on the Southern railway at 1.30 o'clock near Stevenson, Ala. The mail car was looted, but the amount secured is unknown. The men boarded the train at Stevenson, entered the mail car and covered the four clerks with pistols. Three of the clerks were bound, the fourth being ordered to open all sacks of registered mail from which the robbers filled a bag with packages supposed to contain valuables.

After the car had been thoroughly ransacked the fourth clerk was also bound and one of the robbers pulled the emergency cord, the train coming to a stop in a thick woods. The engineer, after waiting a few moments for a signal to proceed, went back, discovering the clerks almost suffocated under the mail sacks, which the robbers had piled on top of them. When the train reached Huntsville, deputy sheriffs were summoned and a posse organized to search the territory around where the men left the train.

DULUTH CITY COUNCIL

Wants to Acquire Street Railway Property

DULUTH, Minn., Sept. 17.—The city council last night adopted a resolution instructing the city legal department to take steps to acquire the Duluth street railway as city property. The action of the council was due to the strike, which has been in progress here for a week, attended by more or less serious rioting and the alleged refusal of the manager of the street railway company to arbitrate differences with nine of its employees. A special election will be called to pass on public ownership. An act of the legislature which assembles next January will be necessary to authorize an issue of bonds.

Introduces Reversible "Omnibus." Because of the narrow streets in several parts of the city of London it has been found impossible to use the ordinary motor omnibus on account of its comparative length and the attending difficulties of turning the bus around at the end of a trip. Some of the routes laid out for the motor buses are circular, thereby obviating the necessity for making complete turns. On some occasions it has been found impossible to man out circular routes, and a new type of bus is being carried out, which is reversible, the same as a trolley car. It can be steered from either end, conductor and driver simply changing places.

Mulai Hafid, Ex-Sultan of Morocco, Enjoying Life in France

PARIS, France, Sept. 17.—Mulai Hafid, ex-sultan of Morocco, is enjoying life here while planning to regain his throne. He is a man of about 70 years and wears a magnificent turban, from which he was ousted purple robe of office. Every day he is after tales of atrocities had come from his subjects, and he has received many letters from all Morocco, and showed the civilized parts of Morocco, asking help of world. The former ruler claims to be a kind of monarch. All these national costumes. Every morning he takes the waters regularly, surrounded by an inquisitive crowd and attended by attendants.

In Ohio Prison Baseball League Players Don't Dare Kick Against the Umpire's Decisions

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 17.—A baseball league among the convicts of the Ohio state penitentiary here is the latest move by Warden T. H. R. Jones.

The scheme of allowing the prisoners to play ball was inaugurated for two reasons—to keep the idle convicts in good physical trim and to make it an incentive for the other prisoners to do their work well and behave. Only the "good" convicts are permitted to participate in the games or to witness them. There is a regular league in the penitentiary, but there is no regular schedule of games. One fan in the bleachers said it might be made up as follows: Murderers versus Pickpockets; Highwaymen versus Porch Climbers; Safe Crackers versus Burglars; Forgers versus Embezzlers. Upper picture shows a general view of a game at which three condemned murderers awaiting execution were spectators. The lower one shows Warden Jones calling a strike on a batsman. There is no appeal from the decision of the umpire. The folks in the bleachers don't throw pop bottles at him, and he can order both teams off the field if he wants to. No matter how far a batsman hits the ball in this game, he is not permitted to make a home run. He may circle the bases, and the run counts, but there is no home run.

FUNERALS

CHAMPAIGN.—The funeral of Jean Baptiste Champagne took place yesterday from his home, 131 Colburn street. Solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated at St. Joseph's church at 8 o'clock. Rev. Charles Paquette, O. M. L. officiating. He was assisted by Rev. Anthony Baron, O. M. L. and Rev. Charles Audibert, O. M. L. as deacon and sub-deacon. The choir was under the direction of Mr. Frank Goudeau, Mrs. Joseph A. Bernard presiding at the organ. At the offertory Miss Eva Lawler rendered Lachry's "Pie Jesu." The bearers were Pierre Comtois, Alphonse Noel, Frank Savard, Raphael Sautiers, Delphis Colleville and Pierre Moreau. Burial took place in St. Joseph's cemetery. Rev. J. M. Blais, O. M. L. officiating at the grave. Funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker Joseph Albion.

Roosevelt's Trip

TUCSON, Ariz., Sept. 17.—Ex-President Roosevelt turned eastward today after his long tour through the north-west and down the Pacific coast. He spent the day in Arizona and was scheduled to make three speeches before starting for New Mexico. His first stop was in Tucson, which was put on his itinerary at the last moment. Col. Roosevelt made the trip from Los Angeles by special train to save enough time to enable him to speak here and fill his engagement at Phoenix later in the day. From Phoenix he goes to New Mexico for a day, then strikes northward to Denver and thence through the south.

GOV. JOHNSON

Is Scheduled to Make Eleven Speeches in State of Illinois on Second Day of Tour.

PEORIA, Ill., Sept. 17.—On the second day of his Illinois tour today Gov. Johnson was scheduled to make 11 speeches in the central and southern parts of the state. He started from here on a special train at 8 a. m., accompanied by Senator Frank H. Park, the progressive candidate for governor, and other Illinois leaders of the new party. The Illinois invasion will end tomorrow in the central eastern part of the state.

BADEN WINS THE $2000 PURSE

The 2.10 Trot at Detroit Grand Circuit Taken by the New Jersey Stallion

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 17.—The grand circuit meeting opened yesterday afternoon at the State Fair track with the two-year-old trotters furnishing the real racing in the contest for the rich horseman's future. All of the other events were finished in straight heats, but the youngsters, after battling for three heats, with three different heat winners, were sent to the barn under the sunset rule, the event being postponed until tomorrow.

On account of his two victories on the grand circuit, the bay colt Lord Allen was a strong first choice for the event, but after he had landed the first heat, he tired and was beaten the second by Dillon Axworthy. The third heat looked safe for the Axworthy colt until the stretch was reached, when the kid driver, Jimmy Benyon, came along with the Pittsburgh filly Sweet Alice and beat him in a driving finish by a neck. As it was nearly dark at this time, the race was postponed.

Baden, the brown stallion from New Jersey, who leads all the Grand Circuit horses in the amount of money won this season, added to the bank account of his owner by landing the $2000 stake for 2.10 trotters in three straight heats. He was a better than even money favorite in the auctions, there being considerable play on Esther W. from the Cox stable and the Texas mare Cheney, who had won her last four races.

When it came to racing none of the field had much of a chance with the brown horse. Cheney vainly tried in the first two heats, but Rodney would not let her get nearer than the wheel of the favorite. Esther W. was on her bad behavior in the first two rounds, but in the final after making a break on the first turn and dropping back to last place, she trotted very fast and landed the place in a driving finish with the gray gelding Oakdale.

Cox failed with Esther W. in the 2.10 trot, but he put one over in the stake for 2.05 pacers with his veteran stand-by Brannan Baughman. The California stallion Don Pronto was the original favorite on account of his sensational mile in 2.03 1-2 at Syracuse last week, but Brannan Baughman, after trailing him for three-quarters of the distance in each heat, pulled out and easily beat him in the stretch drive in 2.04 1-2 and 2.04 1-4, two sensational miles over a heavy track.

The talent got trimmed in the 2.20 pace for Michigan horses, in which they played storm at $50 against $20 for the field, only to have their money turned by the superior form of Dillard S.

The feature of tomorrow's racing will be the three-year-old division of the Horseman's Futurity for a purse of $10,000, in which the starters are: Brighton B., Pamela Watts, Junior Watts, Mahomet Watts, Manrico, Princess Todd, Mary Harriman, Rythmell and The Earnest.

MANAGER CHANCE

Of the National League Baseball Team Operated on For Blood Clot on Brain and is Resting Easily

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Manager Frank Chance of the Chicago National league baseball team, who was operated on here for a blood clot at the base of the brain, was reported today as resting easily. His physician believes that the operation will result in a permanent cure and that Chance will be able to return to baseball as a player.

Chance has been troubled with violent headaches for more than a year. His affliction was believed to have been caused by a blow on the head from a pitched ball.

THE STATE CONVENTION

Of Federation of Labor Opened in Fitchburg

FITCHBURG, Sept. 17.—Several scores of delegates are gathered here yesterday for the opening session of the 26th annual convention of the Massachusetts state branch, American Federation of Labor. The delegates represented more than 100,000 organized wage-earners and the program provided for addresses by prominent labor leaders. Legislation and organizing were prominent matters to be acted upon and the unionists will consider a political activity program for the coming year. The annual banquet will be held tonight.

After James W. Wall of Worcester had called the meeting to order, Mayor Hardy welcomed the delegates to Fitchburg. President Wall announced that he was not a candidate for reelection. Edward S. Allen of Holyoke and James S. Powers of Fall River are candidates for the presidency at the annual convention. Wall also discussed the state of affairs in Boston during June and July.

The joint committee on legislation, should draft and present a bill to the next legislature that a man shall not be discharged for joining a trade union. This subject is of vast importance and we should have the right in our own state to join our own money to join an organization and if this means refusing us the right to work it should force us more strongly to the promise of the political candidates seeking election to the legislature in the future.

"An immediate and fair trial" of Joseph J. Rotor and Arturo Giovannitti arrested in Lawrence during the textile strike was urged by the executive council of the state branch. The council in its report recommended that the office of secretary-treasurer be made permanent and that permanent headquarters for him be established. The council further recommended that the secretary-treasurer perform all the legislative work of the state branch now done by the executive committee.

Public ownership of the Boston Elevated Railway system was advocated by John W. Sherman and William E. Sprague, members of the legislative committee. The committee also recommended:

"That an anti-injunction bill with the peaceful persuasion bill, the picketing bill, the bill relating to trade disputes, the equal suffrage bill, the initiative and referendum bill, the public opinion bill, the bill providing for home rule for cities, the bill providing for the election of judges, the anti-vaccination bill, and a bill providing for an exemption from taxes on the improvements of real estate for the benefit of homeowners be reintroduced and supported before the legislature of 1913."

"That the legislative committee be instructed to continue its efforts against the competition of prison-made goods with those of free labor."

"That a bill be introduced or supported providing for compulsory investigation of industrial disputes at the request of either party to the controversy, such bill not to in any way abridge the right to strike."

EX-SECRETARY SHAW

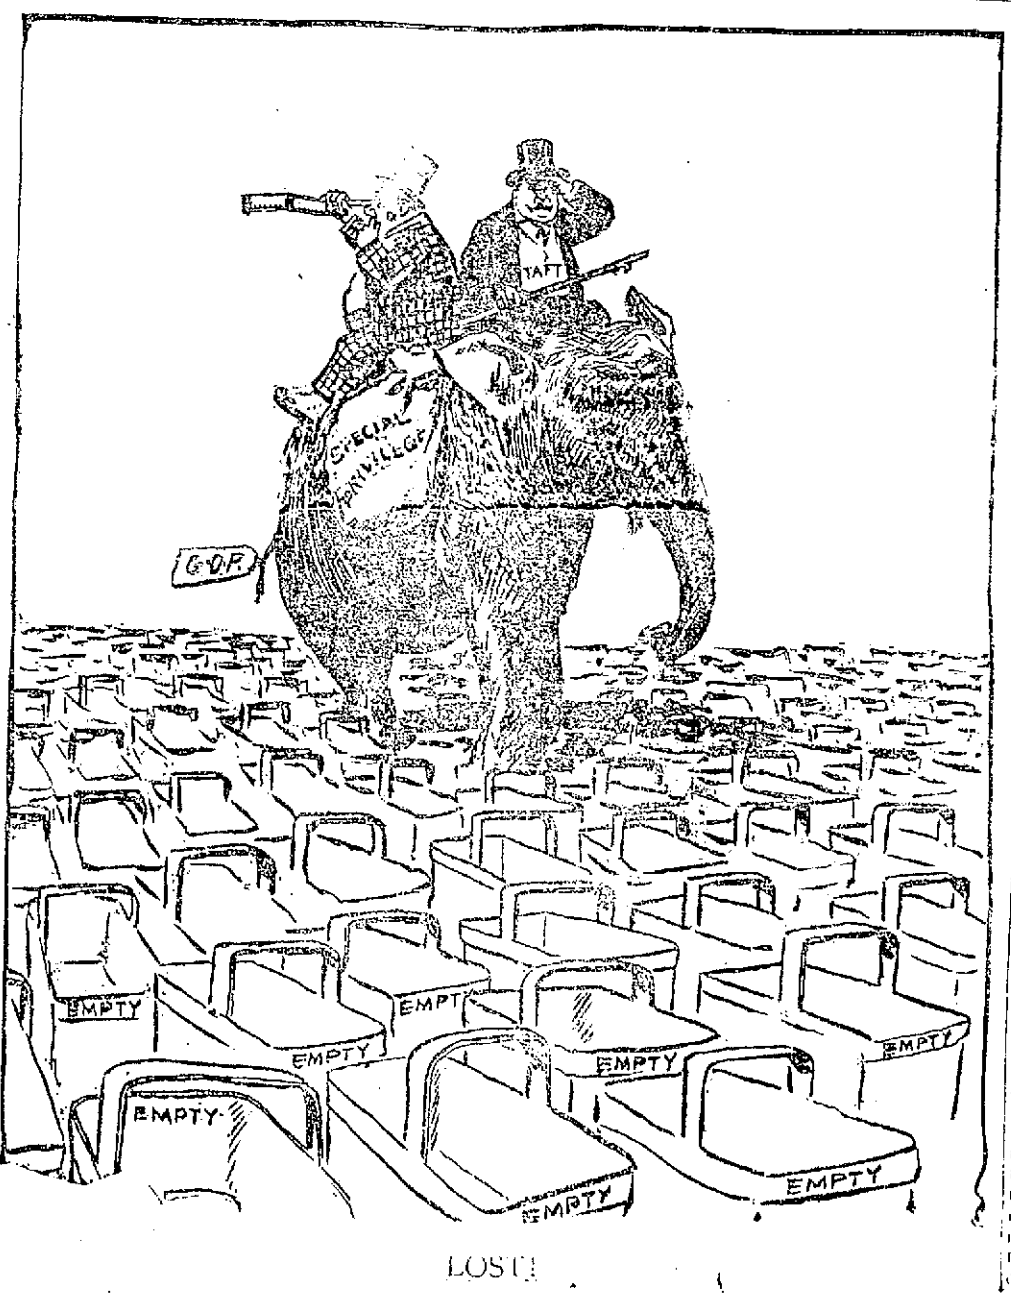

Is Accused of Aiding a Defunct Concern

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 17.—Leslie M. Shaw, secretary of the treasury during Roosevelt's administration, is declared a confederate of James A.

Above, head of the defunct Western Steel corporation, against whom the charge of being a confidence man is made by the Metropolitan Trust company of New York in its answer to Moore's suit for $1,000,000 damages growing out of receivership.

Mr. Shaw's Denial
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 17.—Leslie M. Shaw denied he had assisted in the promotion of the Western Steel corporation, as alleged in affidavits filed in Seattle. Mr. Shaw's statement is as follows: "The Western Steel corporation was organized, capitalized and the bond issue made before I ever heard of any such concern. I had nothing whatever to do with the promotion of or procuring the Metropolitan loan. The services I rendered and the money I advanced were worth many fold the value of the stock I received had the stock been worth par. I only received a fraction of what was due me under the contract."

BRAVES PLAYED GREAT GAME WOLFGANG AND LAVIGNE GO TO THE BIG LEAGUE INTERESTING BASEBALL CRUMBS

And Defeated St. Louis, 8 to 4
—Sweeney Pulled Several
Classy Plays

BOSTON, Sept. 17.—By bunting hits off Woodburn in the second inning of yesterday's game at the South End grounds the Braves won another game from St. Louis. The final score was 8 to 4.

Tyler started for Boston, but was relieved by Dickson in the fourth inning. An attack of the "needles" on the part of Manager Kling was the only plausible cause for the removal of Tyler, who had allowed but three hits, fanned four men and passed but two. Dickson twirled nine balls for the five innings he was on the mound, holding the Cardinals to four hits.

Woodburn, the ventriloquist, was the first victim of the Braves. Woodburn left early, but not until he had yielded seven runs. Derrett, a recruit, then took the reins and did not give the Braves a hit. Burke, the former Dodger, finished the game and gave a fine account of himself.

St. Louis put over its first run in the opening inning. Gilhooley flied to Jackson, but Lee Magee celebrated his return to the game by hitting safely to left and going all the way home on Whitely's double against the left field fence. Konechny lifted an infield fly which was taken by Devlin and then Evans fanned.

The Braves were unable to do anything with Woodburn in the first and went out in order and St. Louis, although Rollins singled in the second, were easy for Tyler.

Snyder's boot of Kirke's high fly in front of the plate started the Braves on their big inning. With Kirke on first, Titus lined the ball against the right field fence, sending Kirke to third, but a quick return by Evans held him on first. A wild pitch allowed Kirke to score and Titus to take second. Devlin lined a single to left center and Titus went up to the far corner. Maranville doubled to right, scoring Titus and putting Devlin on third and then Bill Barlow cleaned up with a single to left. On Tyler's hit to Whitely, Barlow was forced at second, but the ball was only momentary for Jackson resumed the slaughter to left for a base and O'Rourke was passed, filling the sacks. Sweeney scored a sharp single to left on which Tyler and Jackson were out.

O'Rourke beat the little shortstop's throw to the plate, with the seventh run of the inning. Titus fouled a high foul for Snyder and then Devlin ended the round by flying to Gilhooley.

The Cardinals scored a very cheap run in the sixth. Gilhooley was safe when O'Rourke's ball threw pulled Devlin off the base, but after Magee had fouled to Barlow, Whitely hit to O'Rourke and Gilhooley was forced at second. Kirke fozzled Konechny's fly, and Whitely went all the way home on a first and only out.

After Evans had walked, a quick throw by Barlow to Sweeney caught Konechny off second.

Hanser began the fourth for St. Louis by walking, and after Rollins struck out, took third on a wild pitch. Snyder hit to Barlow and then O'Rourke was called to the bench and Dickson went in. Ellis was sent in to bat for Perritt, and lifted a long fly to Jackson, on which Hanser scored, but there was no more trouble.

Boston was banded its eighth run on these five errors. Tyler went down in the eighth. Jackson was given a life when Burke fumbled his slow tap. O'Rourke hit to Whitely, and Jackson was forced out at second, but a wild throw to first by Rollins allowed O'Rourke to reach second. Snyder threw to Hanser to get O'Rourke off second, and the Braves played for third, and then home when Hanser's throw got by Whitely and rolled to the fence. Maranville miscued on Snyder's grounder in the ninth, and then Brennan went in to right. Gilhooley's safe fly to left, filled the bases and Magee scored Snyder by holding a jump fly to Jackson.

Matty Batted Hard

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Chicago defeated New York in the second game of their series by a score of 4 to 3. The victory assures the Cubs of the victor's end of their year's series with the Giants.

Mathewson was hit hard, though many hard drives went directly at the New York fielders. Archer's home run in the seventh resulted in Chicago's winning run. Lavender was knocked out of the box by New York in four innings, but the champions made only two hits off Reulbach.

Pittsburgh 2, Brooklyn 1.

BROOKLYN, Sept. 17.—Robinson let Brooklyn down with three hits yesterday. Ragon was very effective once in the second inning, when Wagner tripled and scored on Wilson's homer over the right field fence. Smith batted for Ragon in the seventh and singled. Kneizer did not allow a hit in the last two innings. Pittsburgh won by the score of 2 to 1.

Cincinnati Won Two Games

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 17.—Philadelphia was shut out in both games here yesterday by Cincinnati, the scores being 6 to 0 and 1 to 0. In the first game Rixey was hit hard and was taken off the rubber in the fifth inning, during which Cincinnati made five runs. In the game Knisely made three successive two-base errors.

Alexander's passes and a single by Phelps in the fourth inning gave the visitors the only tally of the second contest. Fromme and Benton were very effective in both games.

EDDIE McDONALD

Of Boston Braves Released to Sacramento, Refuses to Report to Team

BOSTON, Sept. 17.—Notice was received yesterday at the Boston National League headquarters from President James E. Gaffney, who is in Cincinnati attending the drafting of minor league players, that Eddie McDonald had been sold to Sacramento, of the Pacific Coast league, and that McDonald was to be given transportation, so that he could report on the coast at once.

McDonald's work with the Braves this season has been on a par with that of any third baseman to the league. He has made 119 hits, which gives him an average of .260 higher than the majority of infielders, has scored 68 runs, which is a most creditable performance when it is taken into consideration that he was with a tall end, club, is a clever, heady base runner, having stolen 20 bases this season, and has played a wonderfully strong game on the defense.

McDonald was the most surprised man in town when he learned that he had been released to Sacramento, but it was also a great surprise to the fans and all the ball players on both the Boston and St. Louis clubs, who expressed their opinion of the sale in anything but mild terms. At the game yesterday, there was more talk about the loss of McDonald than there was about the game which was in progress. McDonald will not go to Sacramento, in spite of the fact that Gaffney ordered him to report at once, but will remain around Boston for a week or so before he returns to his home in Albany, N. Y.

Catcher Drafted by St. Louis Americans—
Other Changes

CATCHER LAVIGNE.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 17.—Seventy-seven minor league players were yesterday drafted by major league clubs at the annual meeting of the National Baseball commission in this city. Of this number 47 will enter the American league, either during the remainder of this season or the beginning of the next, while the National league, through the fortune of the draw, obtained 30 men.

Of the individual teams, the St. Louis Americans were by far the most fortunate inasmuch as 16 men were obtained by this team. The next to approach the St. Louis Americans in point of members is the Chicago National league club, which secured seven men by draft. The Washington Braves got three, Philadelphia and Brooklyn Americans two each, while the Boston Americans and the New York Nationals drew blanks and did not secure a man.

The contest for the more valuable players was more keen this year than usual. Almost every man obtained by the class A or class A teams was drafted by from two to 13 teams. The visitors, baseball presidents and managers were entertained at a huge baseball banquet at the Langhams last night as the guests of Chairman Herrmann of the commission.

The following drafts from the American association were the first allowed by the commission:

From Columbus, Packard, by Cincinnati Nationals; Indianapolis, McKee, by New York Americans; Kansas City, Powell, by Chicago Nationals; Louisville, Stanberry, by St. Louis Nationals; Milwaukee, Blackburn, by Chicago Nationals; Minneapolis, Clymer, by Chicago Nationals; St. Paul, McKeechey, by Boston Nationals; Toledo, Grady, by Philadelphia Americans.

Drafts from the International league were next taken up by the commission and are as follows:

From Baltimore, Derrick, by Detroit Americans; Buffalo, Schang, by Philadelphia Americans; Jersey City, Ronald, by Washington Americans; New York, Connelly, by Washington Americans; Newark, Dent, by New York Americans; Providence, Works, by Cincinnati Nationals; Rochester, Dolan, by Philadelphia Nationals; Toronto, Fisher, by Brooklyn Nationals.

Drafts from Pacific Coast league follow:

Los Angeles, Severance, by St. Louis Americans; Oakland, Patterson, by St. Louis Americans; Portland, Klavitter, by Detroit Americans; San Francisco, Gideon, by Philadelphia Americans; Vernon, Morrow, by St. Louis Americans; Sacramento, Orr, by Philadelphia Americans.

Drafts from the Southern league were as follows:

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

GOVERNOR FOSS ON IMPROVING WATERWAYS

That Governor Foss takes up the matter of making the Merrimack river navigable should not cause local politicians to treat the matter as a political issue. The project, as the governor says is one that deeply concerns this city and its future as a textile centre. His advocacy of a state appropriation to start the work is helpful of course and it should not be sneered at by anybody interested in the future of Lowell.

"Manchester, Marseilles and other great world ports," said the governor, "are fully 75 miles from the sea. Lowell and the towns on the Merrimack are just beginning their careers as industrial centers and with the Merrimack made navigable to the sea, a wonderful future would open itself up to you. The development of our waterways must be carried forward."

The governor evidently realizes the vast possibilities for good involved in the question of making the river navigable. Nothing but political opposition or selfish motives can lead to opposition to the movement if properly conducted. That is why the people of Lowell should furnish all the assistance they can in promoting the movement and at least in showing that there is a popular demand for it. If our mills are tied up with water power companies whose interests might be somewhat affected, that fact should be understood; but were the river made navigable the benefit to be derived therefrom would far exceed the disturbance caused by changing a few bridges and offering a few landings for the public good.

In twenty years hence Lowell, Lawrence and Haverhill will be doing a large freight business on the river, and this will be their only salvation against the competition of other cities that can freight their coal and their raw material to their doors by water.

It is difficult to understand the apparent indifference of the mills and of some of the merchants of Lowell to this improvement. Any policy of indifference or opposition on their part will cause them to be set down as standing against the best interests of our city. If by such a policy they should block this movement in the incipient stage, they will find themselves strongly condemned by public sentiment in this city and the blame will be placed where it properly belongs.

ALL THE SUSPECTS NOW ARRESTED

The two men necessary to complete the chain of evidence without a missing link in the New York murder case, have been arrested, and now there can be no escape from conviction. The whole story will doubtless come out during the course of the trial, and much that has been told to the district attorney under promise of immunity will probably be contradicted. The ingenuity of the detectives in capturing "Gyp the Blood" and "Lefty Louie" is worthy the careful consideration of those who think they can commit crimes and escape arrest. The leading characters now under arrest as directly or indirectly responsible for the murder of Herman Rosenthal are "Whitey" Lewis, "Dago" Frank, "Gyp" and "Lefty" who are believed to have done the shooting, Harry Valton and Bridget Webber, two gamblers; Jack Rose, collector of protection money; "Sam" Schepps, paymaster of the assassins; Louis Shapiro, chauffeur and owner of the car that carried the gunmen to and from the scene of the tragedy; Lieut. Becker, who plotted the murder and by whose orders it was carried out, and Jack Reich, alias Sullivan, the friend of Becker, who assisted in carrying out the details.

It is quite probable that Becker with four or five of the others will be convicted and pay the penalty of their crime. The murder has excited so much indignation, not only on account of the motive but the bold and defiant manner in which it was committed, that there will be no public sympathy for any of the culprits.

Not only was this gang engaged in the promotion of every kind of vice but they had actually demoralized the police department so that a large proportion of the men became the defenders of vice and crime and received large amounts for the protection thus afforded to lawbreakers. It is to be hoped that for the benefit of society, for the purification of politics and the elimination of graft, all who may be found guilty will be visited with the extreme penalty of the law. Nothing else will vindicate the majesty of the law in New York, in which it has been trampled under foot by the men who are employed for its enforcement.

THE L. W. W. LEADERS

The Haywood meeting on Boston common Sunday attracted a vast concourse of people, ostensibly to protest against the further detention of Ettor and Giovannitti in jail on the charge of conspiracy during the Lawrence strike. A peculiar phase of the situation was, that Haywood was to surrender to the Lawrence police, having been indicted on a similar charge. The meeting was a demonstration of his influence with the masses, for he surely could not expect that the Essex county authorities would liberate the prisoners with the day set for their trial but a couple of weeks away. It will be difficult to get a Lawrence jury to convict any of these men. Haywood rather likes the experience of surrendering to the authorities in Lawrence, for as head of the L. W. W. he can point to Lawrence as the scene of the greatest victory won by the organization. The dynamite plot greatly increased the popularity and prestige of the leaders, and this will make their conviction more difficult. Should all three leaders be acquitted the result will doubtless be the signal for the greatest demonstration yet held by the L. W. W. It is a mistake to give these men an opportunity to say that they have been unjustly treated by the courts. That only helps them in their crusade and brings in more funds to be used in their behalf. The L. W. W. could accomplish much good if it were subject to more conservative leaders.

ROOSEVELT THE ONLY ONE?

Out in Milwaukee the Methodist Bishop Quale seems to have a pretty accurate opinion of Theodore Roosevelt. He told of a Chicago minister who in a sermon said the country had but one honest man. Bishop Quale took instant exception to the statement, claiming that he knew at least one other, meaning himself. In reference to Roosevelt Bishop Quale said:

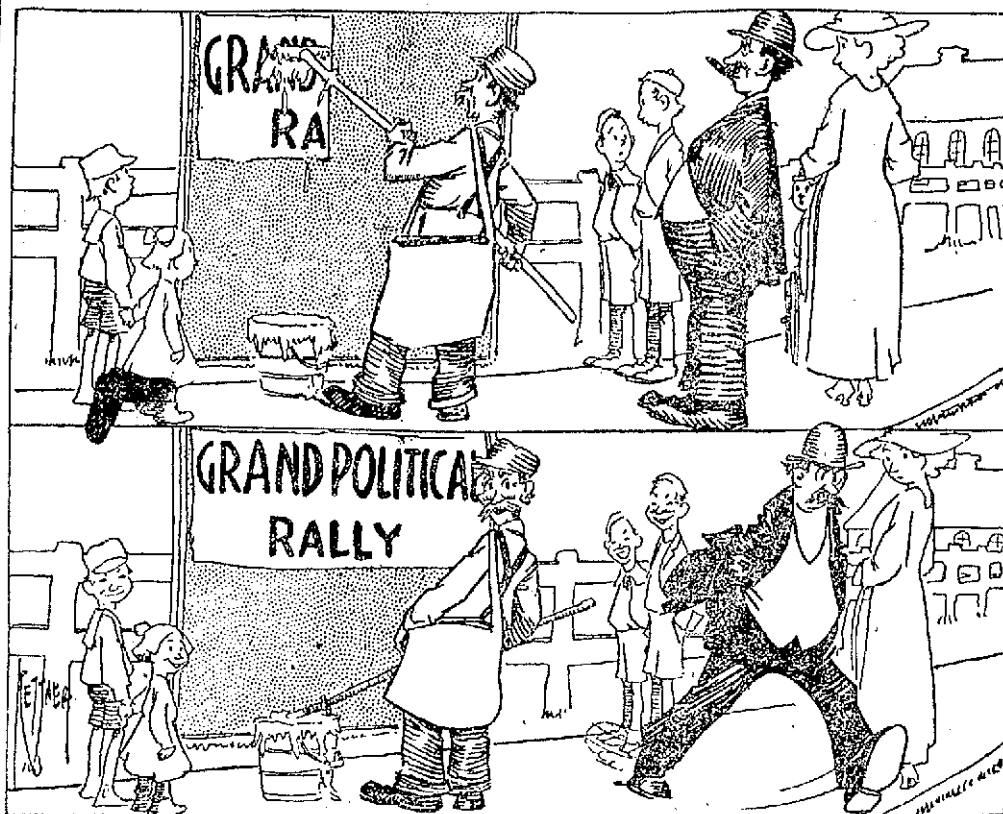

"People are going wild over politics. They are talking a cross. I tell you that when a man is out of a job and wants a job and can't get a job he takes that time to tell the people in a loud voice that there is no other man but himself who is fit for the job—everybody else is a rascal. When you hear a man say that, just laugh at him."

Another minister in a sermon denounced Roosevelt as a demagogue and praised Taft as a wise and conservative leader, while a third denounced both Taft and Roosevelt and said Wilson is the man. Thus even the churches that preach politics are as much at odds on the merits of the several candidates as are the politicians who discuss the same topics according to their lights and preferences on the street corners.

INEXPERIENCED OR CARELESS AUTOISTS

The auto accident on Merrimack street Sunday morning would seem to indicate either reckless driving or lack of experience in running such a powerful machine. Had not the auto struck the trolley pole it would probably have crashed into the front of the drug store for which it was headed. It seems that from some cause or other there are a great many people allowed to drive autos before they have acquired the expert knowledge or the practical experience necessary to enable them to run the machine without danger of killing the occupants or somebody on the road through sheer stupidity. This fact is attested by frequent accidents that cannot be explained in any other way.

In spite of all precautions, all warnings and all opportunities, the smooth paving will run into the water with the prospect that the work will not be finished.

POLITICS! POLITICS!

Seen and Heard

With the approaching presidential election after what might be called a strenuous and "zoologically conducted" campaign, you give any consideration to the unusual party names, the enthusiasm stirred up by the far famed world's baseball series, and last but not least, the delightful game of hide and seek which dear old "Gyp the Blood" and gentle "Lefty Louie" have been enjoying with police authorities about the country, nobody can justly complain of lack of excitement in the east. At present the "Wild and Woolly West" of storied fame doesn't seem to have a look in.

Practice work of the various football teams this far seems to demonstrate the advantage of the new changes in the rules. Another down has been added, giving a team four chances instead of three to make ten yards. To encourage the more open play, restrictions have been lifted from the forward pass and it may now be used anywhere on the field. Thus by making the open style of football more popular and making speed a more important factor in the game than weight and brute force, the danger of injury is greatly lessened.

A countryman named Street owned a runaway cow. As the season advanced Street was compelled to make several long pilgrimages into the country for the reprehensible animal.

On one occasion the trail led on and on until Street had entered the environs of a town where a new trolley car system was installed. Just as the cow-hunter turned a corner in the outskirts, the car lumbered up and the conductor called out:

"Get off Street!"

The owner of the estranged cow stopped in his tracks and bawled back at the men in blue and gold:

"No, darn her, I ain't sold her; an' when I do it won't be good for her blamed old hide either."

CLIMBING

O, once there was a kitten,
Tom, Henry had a name,
And here you see him sitting
Before he hid for fame.

Somewhere he'd heard or read it,
"Think upward! Do not stop!"
And greatly to his credit,
Resolved to reach the top.

And so he climbed and clambered,
Nor downward looked at all,
While, facing beneath him yammered
And hoped to see him fall.

Up, up, he went, undaunted,
And at the top he found
The things he loved and wanted
Were somewhere on the ground.

Advice may look in laughter,
Remember, ere you climb,
That sometimes what you're after
Is near you all the time.

Automobile Science Course Established

The first university in this country to recognize the importance of the motor car and to place it on an equal footing with the building of bridges, railroads and tunnels, with chemistry and other sciences, is the University of Southern California. The new course is for the benefit of automobile mechanics, engineers and designers, and the first professor of automobile science is Stanley Smith, E. E., who has just been appointed to the chair. While he will deliver lectures on the various subjects properly belonging to automobile science, he will specialize on motors and their efficiency, sliding, poppet and rotary valve types, etc.

Military Exemption for Motorists

For the purpose of facilitating the transportation of the general staff in case of war, the French military authorities have decided to give those who own cars of medium horse-power, and who are able to prove their ability of driving them and taking care of them as far as tires and ordinary repairs are concerned, a special opportunity to discharge their military duties in an agreeable manner. Instead of being compelled to drill with the other conscripts, such owners must sign an agreement with the authorities that they will turn over to the government immediately following mobilization the vehicles described in their application of this sort of service. At all maneuvers the car must be at the service of the military authorities, to be driven by the owner himself under orders from the officers.

$80,000,000 Invested

According to statistics collected by T. C. Martin, chairman of the committee on progress to the National Electric Light convention at Seattle, recently there were 100,000 electric vehicles, of which sum about $25,000,000 represents the outlay for trucks and delivery vehicles and $55,000,000 the value of pleasure cars.

WOMAN'S BODY FOUND IN RIVER

A Brutal Crime Indicated by Crushed Jaw and Wound at Base of Skull

MANCHESTER, Sept. 17.—The body of a woman of 35 years, who it is believed, was murdered aboard a yacht off the coast and then cast overboard, was picked up in the tide waters of Manchester river at 7 o'clock last night.

Everything connected with the case points to a brutal crime. The woman, who has not yet been identified, was apparently shot down from behind and then beaten to death.

Bullet Wound Seen

The bullet entered the woman's head at the base of the skull and came out just above the left eye. The body, which had been in the water several days, was discovered by Capt. Charles Olsen floating down in the water. At the time Olsen was aboard his yacht, off the Walter B. Caldwell shipyard. He went ashore and, securing the assistance of a fisherman, Joseph Slade, returned to his boat.

The two men together managed to pull the body aboard with a gaff. It was placed in the stern, covered with canvas and brought ashore.

The police were notified and a detail was made to guard the body as it lay on the beach. They were kept busy warding off a crowd of morbid

AUTO IN BAD SMASH

Members of Waterway Board Badly Injured

WEST NEWBURY, Sept. 17.—Three members of the Merrimack Valley waterway board were badly hurt last night when their automobile crashed into a telegraph pole while going down Sawyer's Hill on the Newbury road last night. The injured:

Louis R. Hovey, Haverhill, legs and face cut.

A. B. Sutherland, Lawrence, dislocated hip and possible internal injuries.

Richard J. McCormick, Haverhill, cut and bruised.

The chauffeur and a friend, whose names are not known, escaped unhurt. Hovey and McCormick, after receiving medical treatment at a farmhouse near the scene of the accident, were brought to their homes, while Sutherland, who is president of the Lawrence board of trade, was left behind under the care of physicians who consider his condition serious.

As the automobile was going down Sawyer's Hill the chauffeur lost control of the machine and it shot across the road into a ditch, snapping off a telegraph pole and overturning. As a result of the accident the work of the board, which had many hearings scheduled, will probably be delayed for several weeks.

Huge Racing Car Coming

A specially built, 300 horse-power Benz racing car soon will make its appearance in America. The car is said to have been purchased by a well-known race promoter and will probably be driven by Robert Burman, holder of the world's record for straight-away speeding, in an endeavor to lower his own record of 25 seconds for the mile. The car is reported to have made a mile in 21 seconds, or almost three miles a minute.

Yellowstone Park and Automobiles

Representative Rucker has petitioned the United States government to open Yellowstone Park to automobiles. This famous park is still closed to motorists, and it is claimed that there is no valid reason why it should remain so. The present-day automobile is a different thing from the unreliable noisy contraption which was excluded from the park years ago. There appears to be a growing disposition on the part of those responsible to open the park to tourists and their motor cars.

ILTED BY YOUNG MAN

A Haverhill Young Girl Tried to End Life

HAVERHILL, Sept. 17.—Despondent over being ilted by a young man with whom she had been keeping company, Miss Edna Tufts, aged 17 years, tried to end her life last night by drowning in the Merrimack river, but was rescued by Joe Albanese.

Miss Tufts confided to the police that a month ago she was informed by the young man that his parents objected to her and this caused her despondency. At the time she felt in a dead faint and it was an hour before she revived. The conversation between the man and girl occurred near the county bridge, and it was at this same point that she was seen last night evidently waiting for someone.

Friends who know of her infatuation for the young man told her that he would not be out again last night as he had gone home and intended remaining there.

Miss Tufts then walked across to the river street end of the bridge and as she seemed to be acting strangely, the friends watched her. They saw the young woman turn down toward the river bank, and when under the bridge Miss Tufts jumped into the water. She was sinking the second time when Joe Albanese, who was attracted to the scene, hastened to her rescue, bringing her ashore.

The young woman was hysterical and, although resisting, was removed to a drug store nearby and was then taken to the Haverhill city hospital.

HE FELL FROM THE ROOF OF A NEW RULES OF SCHOOL BOARD

BUILDING IN DUTTON STREET THIS AFTERNOON

Are to be Considered at the Meeting to be Held This Evening

Edward Arvisais was killed shortly before four o'clock this afternoon as a result of falling from the top of the brick building occupied on the ground floor by the Lowell Guild Milk station, in Dutton street. How the accident happened could not be learned at the time of going to press, but it is thought that he lost his footing and slipped off the slate roof, falling to the ground, four stories below.

The man who was known by the name of "Joe" to his companions, had been in the employ of the Merrimack Mfg. Co. and this afternoon with other masons he was at work on the roof of the long line of brick buildings in Dutton street known as the "Front Row" and in some unaccountable manner fell to the sidewalk and was instantly killed.

Although there were two men working on the roof with him at the time they are unable to state how the accident happened. People who were seated on the door steps tried to do everything possible to assist the man. The ambulance was summoned and the doctor in attendance found that the man was dead. The body was taken to the funeral parlors of Undertakers James F. O'Donnell & Sons.

JUDGE MAHONEY TO APPEAR BEFORE GRAND JURY IN THE LAWRENCE DYNAMITE CASES

BOSTON, Sept. 17.—Judge Mahoney of the Lawrence police court answered a summons today to testify before the Suffolk county grand jury which is investigating the alleged illegal distribution of dynamite in Lawrence while the mill strike was in progress last winter. Many of the strikers arrested during the disturbances in Lawrence the first of the year were before Judge Mahoney. Frank Butterick of Lawrence, private secretary of Ernest W. Pitman, the Andover mill contractor, who committed suicide when informed that he would be obliged to testify before the grand jury, appeared at the courthouse. Other men who answered summonses included Captain H. C. Kelton of the United States army, John F. Norton and Frank Servilla.

LT. MAHER FOUND WATCH

Taken From House in Humphrey Street

A residence in Humphrey street was broken into last week and a valuable watch was stolen. The matter was reported to the police and through the efforts of Lieut. Martin Maher the timepiece was recovered.

An entrance was gained through a window in the rear of the house and the boy, who it was afterward found, had the watch, made his way through the collar into the kitchen and then into an upper room where he removed the watch from a drawer in a cabinet. Although he had been seen in the room by neighbors he denied that he had been in the house but when the matter was reported to the police Lieut. Maher put the boy through a rigid examination and succeeded in locating the watch under the steps of the rear piazza of the house in which the boy lives.

MATRIMONIAL

St. Patrick's rectory was this afternoon the scene of a very pretty wedding, when Mr. Homer Gill, popular employee at Bartlett & Daw's hardware store and a well known member of the C. M. A. C., and Miss Helen Salen, a trained nurse, were united in the bonds of matrimony. The ceremony, which was private took place at 2:30 o'clock, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Timothy P. Callahan. The happy couple were attended by a brother of the bridegroom, Mr. Edmund Gill, and a sister of the bride, Miss Margaret Salen, who acted as best man and bridesmaid respectively. The bride looked charming in a fine gown of grey silk, while the bridegroom wore a neat costume of blue silk. After the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride's parents, 8 Crane's ave., where a brief reception to the immediate families was held. Mr. and Mrs. Gill left on the 2:42 o'clock train for New Hampshire where they will spend a couple of weeks. They will be at home to their friends at 8 Crane's avenue after Sept. 25.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Sept. 17.—George Wilson, former teller of the Stamford Trust Company of Stamford pleaded guilty in the criminal superior court here today to a charge of embezzling $48,000 of the company's money. He was sentenced to not less than two and not more than seven years in state prison.

Independent Order, I. O. O. F., WINNIPEG, Man., Sept. 17.—The sovereign grand lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows devoted much of today to business. The past presidents association and the Odd Fellows Press association both met. A feature of the day was a garden party at Government house given by the lieutenant-governor this afternoon. Those officers were elected: Columbus Kollier, San Antonio, Texas, grand sire; Judge Robert Daniel, Georgia, deputy grand sire; John H. Goodwin, Baltimore, re-elected grand secretary; and M. R. Richards, Muckle, Philadelphia, re-elected grand treasurer.

A meeting of the committee on rules of the school board is scheduled for tonight at 8:30 o'clock. This will be the first meeting of the board since the election of Supt. Hugh J. Molloy and it is being called for the purpose of approving the new rules which were drafted by the board.

Dr. J. B. O'Connor of the school board when seen by reporters this morning stated that the Pawtucketville school matter may come before the board tonight, but he could not say for sure. The superintendent had nothing to give out.

Work on the Streets
The commissioner of streets and highways stated this morning that all the men employed in the street department were busy these days. The alterations consisting of filling of holes in John, Kirk and Paige streets are completed, and the same gang is now working on Broadway near Fletcher street. That portion of Suffolk street between Moody and Merrimack is being macadamized and sometime this week it is expected work will be started on the other end of Suffolk street between Market and Broadway.

Tomorrow the Day State Street Railway company will start work on replacing their tracks in East Merrimack street and it is presumed the employees of the street department will be able to start on the Hassam block paving by Monday. Fairmount and Rogers streets will soon be repaved and put in good condition. The macadamizing and resurfacing of Thorndike street from Chelmsford street to Davis square is progressing rapidly, the men being now employed in the vicinity of Hale street. Howard street near Hale street is being graded and at the request of the board of health the culvert in Billerica street is being repaired.

While talking about paving, Commissioner Brown said that the pavers were about the scariest people to be found. He said people are wondering why such and such a paving job is not being worked at the same time. "The reason for this," said Mr. Brown, "is the scarcity of pavers. Those men are being paid $4 a day on old paving and $4 a day on new paving and all the city can employ is one shift. I am looking for more pavers but cannot locate any. However, we have as good a set of pavers as there is in the country and the work is being pushed rapidly."

Building Permits
Elizabeth and Annie K. Harman were given a permit for a two-story addition to their building at 250 Westford street. The addition will be 20 by 22 and the estimated cost will be $1,200.

Mann School Repairs
Bids are being asked for work on closets at the Mann school, the said bids to close Friday morning.

Board of Health Meeting
The regular meeting of the board of health is scheduled for 4:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Llewellyn Street Sewer
Work on the new sewer in Llewellyn street was started yesterday morning and it will be pushed through rapidly. It is a big proposition inasmuch as there is considerable ledge in that section. The approximate cost of the sewer is about $60,000.

FELL FROM A GIRDER

Man Badly Injured at the
B. & M. Repair Shops

W. H. Gullen, employed at the Boston & Maine repair shops in Billerica, while at work about 9 o'clock this morning fell from a girder about 15 feet from the ground.

He was placed on a car and taken to this city where he was removed in the ambulance to the Lowell hospital. Upon examination it was found that he was suffering from a broken collar bone and a broken wrist.

He resides at 556 Garban street.

COL. CARMICHAEL

Candidate For Democratic Nomination

For Congress Addressed an Audience of 1100 at Woburn Last Night

Col. James H. Carmichael of this city, candidate for the democratic nomination for congress in the fifth district, was among the speakers at a big rally in Lyceum hall, Woburn, last evening. There were 1100 men present at the meeting and the Lowell man made a fine impression. He spoke on the issues of the campaign and his remarks were listened to with close attention. At the conclusion of his address the Lowell man was loudly applauded.

Col. Carmichael will address the voters of Braintree in Harmony hall, Col. Carmichael this evening.

Crops Damaged

The heavy frost last night did considerable damage to the farmers' crops in the towns surrounding Lowell as well as to the flower beds in and out of the city. The night was one of the coldest of the season and early this morning "old Jack Frost" was very conspicuous on the lawns and other grasses in this section. While many of the farmers realizing that a frost was due, dug out blankets and other coverings and placed them over their products, others not anticipating such an early visit, are now regretting the fact that they didn't get out the raps last night.

Grand Circuit Races
FAIRGROUNDS, Detroit, Sept. 17.—Two year old trot, Horseman futurity, purse $3000, three heats. Dillon Axworthy, Scerill, won final heat and race; Lord Allen, McDonald, and Sweet Alice, Benyon, divided second and third, Time 2:13 1-4.

Bright Men Succeed

Hundreds of bright men worked for years inventing a machine to clean house by air. Then women said, "Vacuum cleaners must be small and light. The men have made them, small, light and on wheels!"

BERTRAM SPENCER ELECTROCUTED

The Murderer of Miss Blackstone
Paid the Death Penalty at
12.18 This Morning

BOSTON, Sept. 17.—Bertram G. Spencer was put to death in the electric chair in the death house attached to the Charlestown state prison at 12:18 this morning for the murder of Miss Martha B. Blackstone, a Smith College graduate, whom he shot on the night of March 27, 1910, while he was robbing the house of Mrs. Sarah J. Dow in Springfield.

Spencer was resigned to his fate, appearing to be confident that his faith in the Christian Science religion would take away all the terrors of the ordeal. He spent his last day calmly reading Christian Science books and in the service of that faith as it was taught to him by Guy C. Perkins, a member of the Christian Science church in Springfield, who has been his spiritual adviser. He ate heartily and slept well his last day of life and when called to accompany the priest to the death chair he smiled, as he had often smiled during his 10 days in the death house, and said calmly, "I am ready."

He dressed himself carefully and was tidy as he had always kept himself during his incarceration. After he walked from his cell to the chair he held his head erect and stepped firmly.

The witnesses to the execution were: Dr. Charles C. Foster, surgeon general; Dr. Joseph L. McLaughlin, prison physician; Dr. A. C. Smith, of Somerville, assistant prison physician; Dr. George T. McGrath, medical examiner; Thomas M. Thane, representing the press; Rev. Herbert W. Stebbins, prison chaplain; and Guy C. Perkins, Christian Science reader.

The procession to the death house where the death warrant was read to Spencer, began at 12:05. He spent a quiet day and his show of calmness was impressive. He ate a substantial supper of scrambled eggs, toast, blueberry pie and coffee.

After finishing his last meal he sent for Deputy Warden Allen and pressed a note to the deputy warden that he was a messenger, that his wife had not called on him during the time he had been confined in the death house. He also expressed the desire that his body should be cremated.

SPENCER AT FIRST DECLARED INSANE AND THEN BROUGHT BACK FOR TRIAL

BOSTON, Sept. 17.—Bertram G. Spencer's case was an unusual one in Massachusetts procedure. After he had been indicted for the murder of Miss Blackstone, which he had been electrocuted for, he was declared to be insane and was committed to the state institution for the criminal insane at Bridgewater.

Public sentiment in Springfield revolted at this disposition of the case and it was made the issue in a political campaign. District Atty. Taft, the republican who had requested the commitment of the case by the commission of aldermen, was defeated on this issue by Christopher T. Callahan, a democrat. After Mr. Callahan assumed office Spencer was declared sane and was taken back to Springfield to be tried for the homicide.

Spencer's crime was the shooting of Miss Martha B. Blackstone, a school teacher, in the home of Mrs. Sarah J. Dow in Springfield on the evening of March 27, 1910. Miss Blackstone had been dining at Mrs. Dow's, whose two daughters were school teachers.

After dinner the four women gathered about a table in the sitting room, endeavoring to assemble the parts of a picture puzzle. During the evening they had discussed the daring operations of a masked burglar, who for several weeks had entered many homes in the city and eluded pursuit. The women of the city were in terror, the police were mystified and the possibility of entrapment or detecting the burglar seemed remote.

The women had barely turned the conversation from the subject of the general alarm over the audacity of this unknown man when Miss Blackstone, bearing the sound of footsteps in the hall, ran to her door and saw a masked figure standing in the doorway. With a cry she started to run, when the man administered her "Don't run! Don't run! I won't harm you; I want your money."

But this only precipitated the attack. As the women rushed for the nearest doorway the masked man began to shoot. In her flight Miss Blackstone tripped over the edge of a rug and fell. As she struck the floor the burglar shot her through the heart, death being instantaneous. He fired at Miss Harriet Dow, the ballet fracturing the young woman's skull.

With his features hidden by a black cloth, the man ran through the hall on the front doorway, vaulted the piazza rail and escaped before the cries of Mrs. Dow and her injured daughter brought anyone to the scene. Thus, apparently, the burglar had escaped as he had on numerous previous occasions.

Mrs. Dow and her daughter, Miss Lucy Dow, could give no detailed description of the man and the Springfield detectives were without information to assist them in apprehending the slayer of Miss Blackstone. Public indignation ran high. At a mass meeting $5000 was subscribed, the Springfield board of aldermen offered a reward of $500 and Gov. Eben S. Draper promised to pay an additional $500 to the person who should uncover the identity of the murderer.

But a belated clue was offered by C. L. Simons. In October, 1909, the home of A. E. Blair at 66 School street was entered and the following morning Mr. Simons, the father of Mrs. Blair found a pocketbook in a flower bed which contained a gold locket engraved with the initials "E. G. S."

After the shooting of Miss Blackstone Mr. Simons thought of the locket and he delivered it to detectives. Search of the Springfield directory disclosed the fact that Bertram G. Spencer was the only resident of the city whose initials were identical with those on the locket. This piece of jewelry served as a frame for two small photographs of two women. When enlarged the pictures proved to be photographs of Spencer's mother and wife.

At that time Spencer was employed as a clerk in a Springfield packing house and lived with his wife and baby in West Springfield. He was arrested while at work and his home was searched. Under the pillow of his bed was found a revolver, and two black handkerchiefs perforated to be used as masks. Concealed in the house were 100 pieces of jewelry, belts and ornaments, many of which were subsequently identified by persons whose homes had been entered.

The evidence against Spencer was overwhelming and he promptly confessed that he was the burglar who for months had hunted the police. He admitted a scene of breaks.

When questioned about the murder of Miss Blackstone Spencer did not deny it, and only explained that he fired at the young woman because their action angered him, after he commanded them to stand still. After Spencer's arrest his mother and other relatives brought forward testimony of the abnormal behavior of the man, and he said he had suffered from pains in the head ever since his father beat him when he was 9 years old.

The family for generations had lived in Lebanon, Conn., and from that town evidence was secured of Spencer's responsibility. A commission of aldermen appointed by the superior court decided that Spencer was insane and he was sent to Bridgewater.

In the fall of 1910, Christopher T. Callahan of Holyoke made a campaign against Dist. Atty. Taft, and promised, if elected, district attorney, to prosecute Spencer. On being elected he began an inquiry into the mental condition of the man, and was assisted by a commission of aldermen. A commission of aldermen appointed by the superior court decided that Spencer was sane and he was taken back to Springfield to be tried on the homicide indictment.

He was placed on trial in the superior court in Springfield on Nov. 12, 1911. In court Spencer's demeanor appeared to support the contention of the defense that he was insane. He raved during the proceedings, sprang from the dock on several occasions and called to the jury not to send him to the electric chair. He had to be restrained by force and several times the court was obliged to take a recess until he had been calmed.

In spite of the testimony as to his insane acts in his home and his frenzied outbursts, the jury in the early morning of Nov. 25, returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree. He was sentenced to be electrocuted during the week beginning Sept. 15.

After his sentence Spencer became interested in Christian Science and his principal adviser during the last months of his confinement in the Springfield jail was one of that faith.

With his features hidden by a black cloth, the man ran through the hall on the front doorway, vaulted the piazza rail and escaped before the cries of Mrs. Dow and her injured daughter brought anyone to the scene. Thus, apparently, the burglar had escaped as he had on numerous previous occasions.

Mrs. Dow and her daughter, Miss Lucy Dow, could give no detailed description of the man and the Springfield detectives were without information to assist them in apprehending the slayer of Miss Blackstone. Public indignation ran high. At a mass meeting $5000 was subscribed, the Springfield board of aldermen offered a reward of $500 and Gov. Eben S. Draper promised to pay an additional $500 to the person who should uncover the identity of the murderer.

But a belated clue was offered by C. L. Simons. In October, 1909, the home of A. E. Blair at 66 School street was entered and the following morning Mr. Simons, the father of Mrs. Blair found a pocketbook in a flower bed which contained a gold locket engraved with the initials "E. G. S."

After the shooting of Miss Blackstone Mr. Simons thought of the locket and he delivered it to detectives. Search of the Springfield directory disclosed the fact that Bertram G. Spencer was the only resident of the city whose initials were identical with those on the locket. This piece of jewelry served as a frame for two small photographs of two women. When enlarged the pictures proved to be photographs of Spencer's mother and wife.

At that time Spencer was employed as a clerk in a Springfield packing house and lived with his wife and baby in West Springfield. He was arrested while at work and his home was searched. Under the pillow of his bed was found a revolver, and two black handkerchiefs perforated to be used as masks. Concealed in the house were 100 pieces of jewelry, belts and ornaments, many of which were subsequently identified by persons whose homes had been entered.

The evidence against Spencer was overwhelming and he promptly confessed that he was the burglar who for months had hunted the police. He admitted a scene of breaks.

When questioned about the murder of Miss Blackstone Spencer did not deny it, and only explained that he fired at the young woman because their action angered him, after he commanded them to stand still. After Spencer's arrest his mother and other relatives brought forward testimony of the abnormal behavior of the man, and he said he had suffered from pains in the head ever since his father beat him when he was 9 years old.

The family for generations had lived in Lebanon, Conn., and from that town evidence was secured of Spencer's responsibility. A commission of aldermen appointed by the superior court decided that Spencer was insane and he was sent to Bridgewater.

In the fall of 1910, Christopher T. Callahan of Holyoke made a campaign against Dist. Atty. Taft, and promised, if elected, district attorney, to prosecute Spencer. On being elected he began an inquiry into the mental condition of the man, and was assisted by a commission of aldermen. A commission of aldermen appointed by the superior court decided that Spencer was sane and he was taken back to Springfield to be tried on the homicide indictment.

He was placed on trial in the superior court in Springfield on Nov. 12, 1911. In court Spencer's demeanor appeared to support the contention of the defense that he was insane. He raved during the proceedings, sprang from the dock on several occasions and called to the jury not to send him to the electric chair. He had to be restrained by force and several times the court was obliged to take a recess until he had been calmed.

In spite of the testimony as to his insane acts in his home and his frenzied outbursts, the jury in the early morning of Nov. 25, returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree. He was sentenced to be electrocuted during the week beginning Sept. 15.

After his sentence Spencer became interested in Christian Science and his principal adviser during the last months of his confinement in the Springfield jail was one of that faith.

Spencer was put to death in the electric chair in the death house attached to the Charlestown state prison at 12:18 this morning for the murder of Miss Martha B. Blackstone, a Smith College graduate, whom he shot on the night of March 27, 1910, while he was robbing the house of Mrs. Sarah J. Dow in Springfield.

Spencer was resigned to his fate, appearing to be confident that his faith in the Christian Science religion would take away all the terrors of the ordeal. He spent his last day calmly reading Christian Science books and in the service of that faith as it was taught to him by Guy C. Perkins, a member of the Christian Science church in Springfield, who has been his spiritual adviser. He ate heartily and slept well his last day of life and when called to accompany the priest to the death chair he smiled, as he had often smiled during his 10 days in the death house, and said calmly, "I am ready."

He dressed himself carefully and was tidy as he had always kept himself during his incarceration. After he walked from his cell to the chair he held his head erect and stepped firmly.

The witnesses to the execution were: Dr. Charles C. Foster, surgeon general; Dr. Joseph L. McLaughlin, prison physician; Dr. A. C. Smith, of Somerville, assistant prison physician; Dr. George T. McGrath, medical examiner; Thomas M. Thane, representing the press; Rev. Herbert W. Stebbins, prison chaplain; and Guy C. Perkins, Christian Science reader.

The procession to the death house where the death warrant was read to Spencer, began at 12:05. He spent a quiet day and his show of calmness was impressive. He ate a substantial supper of scrambled eggs, toast, blueberry pie and coffee.

After finishing his last meal he sent for Deputy Warden Allen and pressed a note to the deputy warden that he was a messenger, that his wife had not called on him during the time he had been confined in the death house. He also expressed the desire that his body should be cremated.

SPENCER AT FIRST DECLARED INSANE AND THEN BROUGHT BACK FOR TRIAL

BOSTON, Sept. 17.—Bertram G. Spencer's case was an unusual one in Massachusetts procedure. After he had been indicted for the murder of Miss Blackstone, which he had been electrocuted for, he was declared to be insane and was committed to the state institution for the criminal insane at Bridgewater.

Public sentiment in Springfield revolted at this disposition of the case and it was made the issue in a political campaign. District Atty. Taft, the republican who had requested the commitment of the case by the commission of aldermen, was defeated on this issue by Christopher T. Callahan, a democrat. After Mr. Callahan assumed office Spencer was declared sane and was taken back to Springfield to be tried for the homicide.

Spencer's crime was the shooting of Miss Martha B. Blackstone, a school teacher, in the home of Mrs. Sarah J. Dow in Springfield on the evening of March 27, 1910. Miss Blackstone had been dining at Mrs. Dow's, whose two daughters were school teachers.

After dinner the four women gathered about a table in the sitting room, endeavoring to assemble the parts of a picture puzzle. During the evening they had discussed the daring operations of a masked burglar, who for several weeks had entered many homes in the city and eluded pursuit. The women of the city were in terror, the police were mystified and the possibility of entrapment or detecting the burglar seemed remote.

The women had barely turned the conversation from the subject of the general alarm over the audacity of this unknown man when Miss Blackstone, bearing the sound of footsteps in the hall, ran to her door and saw a masked figure standing in the doorway. With a cry she started to run, when the man administered her "Don't run! Don't run! I won't harm you; I want your money."

But this only precipitated the attack.

WINNIPEG, Man., Sept. 17.—Early this morning the telegraph operators, dispatchers and linemen employed by the Canadian Pacific railroad, including all lines west of Winnipeg, were awaiting orders from union headquarters at Montreal to strike, the two-day grace given by the men on Saturday having expired. The station agents are involved, if the order is received between 2000 and 2300 men will be out today. Commercial telegraphers are not involved as they are working under a different agreement.

The company is a most capable one. Marion Jokuhaug, the leading lady, gives a splendid impersonation of "Butterfly" Hunter, the girl who is the "fortunate hunter" to make a moral as well as a social success of himself. John Moehan, the leading man, plays the role with that good sense and humor, the combination of which made the character of the "fortunate hunter" known from the first. These who played the minor roles acted their respective parts finely. The cast follows:

Nathaniel Duncan, "Nat, the Fortunate Hunter,"	John Moehan, "John Moehan,"
Henry Kellogg, a rich young man,	Edgar, "Edgar,"
George Barnham, a promoter,	William Melville, "Melville,"
James Long, "Jim," a Wall street man,	U. S. B. Reese,
Willie Bartlett, a millionaire's son,	H. G. Chester,
Robbins, Kellogg's servant,	Robert A. Freeman,
(Village Characters)
Sam Graham, an old druggist,	G. E. Cover,
Darius Lockwood, the banker,	Frank Harper,
Roland Barnett, the head of the company,	George Raederbusch,
James Sperry, the drug salesman,	W. P. Luckey,
Tracey Tannet, son of the deputy sheriff,	Richard Simmons,
Pete Willing, the deputy sheriff,	William Melville,
Betty Graham, the druggist's daughter,	Marion Jokuhaug,

"THE MILLION."
Henry W. Savane's farce "The Million," which will be seen at the Opera House, Sept. 21, has scored another success for this eminent producer that is expected to duplicate the record of "Excuse Me," both as a high-gutter and money-maker. The piece enjoyed a five months' run on Broadway last season, when it was the first of a new genre of its spirit and dash in its adaptation from the French, but to be one of the most exuberantly funny offerings by the decade. It will be given here by the original company, including such noted farceurs as Taylor, J. H. Kerk, George F. Cossing, Eubank Jensen, Emerson Fisher, and Helen Lathrel. The supporting company numbers 25, which is exceptionally large for a farce, and the scenic production for the four acts requires the services of two 60-foot, baggage cars, an equivalent equalling that of most musical comedies and attractions. The fun is clean, wholesome and unimpaired.

MAY ROBSON

In these days of ragtime, musical slaves it is a real pleasure to witness a genuine comedy, and all those who attend the Opera House, Monday, Sept. 17, will not be slow to give expression to their appreciation. At a Night out gives Miss Robson, innumerable opportunities to display her talent for comedy. Miss Robson, portrays the role of "Grammum," a sprightly lady who refuses to grow old and looks younger than her father, who is the "biggest young man," Grammum, by wiles peculiar to women, induces the boys to take her for a "pal." The night is left to the imagination, but Grammum's appearance in the morning when the boys bring her home speaks volumes. The complications that ensue from their efforts to hide the fact that they were present when the café was raided by the police cause a riotous end of fun and following Miss Robson's course of events through the loss and recovery of her gray puffs is a sure cure for the blues.

Keith's Theatre

There is a very classy bill at Keith's theatre this week, all eight acts being replete with refined entertainment. The audiences at both performances yesterday frequently demonstrated their appreciation of an act by generous applause. Particularly at the evening show did the bill go well, and the fine impression made by practically all of the acts augurs well for the success of the bill during the remainder of the week.

Violinist" and her act which consists of violin solos is clever. Her numbers include "Alice Where Art Thou?" "Twilight," "That Haunting Rag," and "The Blue Bird." Her piano accompaniment is simply amazing, and her many friends and admirers were very appreciative. Each number was enjoyed and it seemed that the audience could never tire of listening to Kusunoo's music.

Hanley and Jarvis are two clever comedians and they have the good wit to make the audience laugh. Their stories is rich and the act is on a sure to please. "Kusunoo," is a performer and aerial balancer is one of the best in the business. His performance includes many wonderful feats that are most entertaining.

The photo-plays for the first three days of the week are, as usual, one of the happy features of the week's bill. They include "The Fighting Instinct," "A Red Hot Courtship," "His First Auto," "The Hindu's Curse," and many others, equally interesting. Performances afternoon and evening, with popular supper hour matinee between the hours of 5.30 and 7.30 o'clock.

Last night was the opening night of the Playhouse and the drama players were seen in David Behrson's clever four-act comedy, "The Clarity Ball." Every feature of this initial performance was highly pleasing and the audience gave evidence of its appreciation by frequent applause. The play was a start to flush last night the reception was the most enthusiastic and generous greeting that a company ever received from the people of Lowell and considering the fact that the members of the company played their parts with perfection. It is gratifying to bring all the members of the cast before the footlights only serve to show the good taste of local theatric

The interior beauty of the theatre is not less remarkable than its exterior. It is a masterpiece of the touch of an artist. The soft glow of the lights, the tasteful coloring and the harmonious arrangement of the decorations all combining in making the appearance of the house most refined.

The piece itself was cleverly constructed and admirably presented by the Dramatic Players. Several productions of this favorite comedy of Melrose have come to Lowville, but not one could equal the work of the company which is now at the Playhouse. Even to the smallest details the conscientious and complete nature of the arrangements was everywhere apparent.

The acting of this piece, Mr. Weston seems to have outdone all his past efforts along this line.

pany was presented a beautiful bouquet of flowers and Miss Constance Jackson in particular was showered with bouquets from her numerous admirers. Beside her the recipient of several bouquets, Mr. Weston was also given a beautiful gold headed umbrella and he responded briefly to the presentation speech. The warm remarks made by the entire company received from the local appreciation theatre lovers was certainly a sufficient compensation for their hard work in making this opening night such a decided success.

The story of the play which is very well known, is light but calls for clever acting throughout. Its happenings portrayals give the members of the company an excellent opportunity of displaying their ability. The work of Miss Jackson in the character of Anna Cruger was certainly remarkable and she has never been seen to better advantage. The other members of the cast all carried their parts to perfection and the production is well worth

What do you know about paper? Everyone uses it in many forms, but few know how it is made. Today's Theatre Visions shows an Industrial "Paper Making in Maine," which shows every process from the log to the finished paper for use again in a most interesting manner. "Black Beauty" the story of a horse is a novel and some places a most dramatic subplot finely acted by a good cast which includes one of the finest horse actors in the world. "The Wind" a beautiful melodrama is a thrilling dramatic subplot well worth seeing and the musical numbers are fine.

The Crescent Rink

The big brass band playing at the Crescent rink in Third street is one of the best aggregations of musicians gathered together in Lowell for many years. All the latest music of the day is played by the band for the convenience of the skaters, which makes it so much easier to get the swing necessary in roller skating. The hall is tastefully decorated and a welcome awaits all who drop in, whether they wish to skate or not.

MASKED MEN HELD UP TRAIN

They Entered the Mail Car and Covered the Four Clerks
With Pistols

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Sept. 17.

Two masked men held up the Memphis special, west bound on the Southern railway at 1:30 o'clock near Stevenson, Ala. The mail car was looted, but the amount secured is unknown. The men boarded the train at Stevenson, entered the mail car and covered the four clerks with pistols. Three of the clerks were bound, the fourth being ordered to open all sacks of registered mail from which the robbers filled a bag with packages supposed to contain valuables.

After the car had been thoroughly ransacked the fourth clerk was also bound and one of the robbers pulled the emergency cord, the train coming to a stop in a thick woods. The engineer, after waiting a few moments for a signal to proceed, went back, discovering the clerks almost suffocated under the mail sacks, which the robbers had piled on top of them. When the train reached Huntsville, deputy sheriffs were summoned and a posse organized to search the territory around where the men left the train.

AT THE CLOSE

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Prices moved upwards at the opening of today's stock market, Canadian Pacific being the feature with a gain of over a point. Other strong issues, including
Reading, the Harrington and Hill issues,
Chino, Copper and Steel.

Today's stock market lost none of its recent professional tone. Trading was again in moderate volume, with a firm undertone as evidenced in the gains of a point or better recorded by Reading, Canadian Pacific and Atlantic Coast Line. Industrials lagged by contrast, although Steel, Copper and the Can issues stood above yesterday's final figures, with a new high record for Can preferred, selling ex-dividend. Westinghouse declined sharply on reports that action on the proposed increased dividend might be deferred. Call money opened at 5 per cent, yesterday's rate, with demand somewhat limited.

An announcement that the stock had been placed on a four per cent basis Westinghouse added to its previous decline. The balance of the list strengthened materially, however, with Canadian Pacific and Reading the features. Although money advanced to within a fraction of yesterday's high rate the market yielded none of its advantage, some of the active issues, including U. S. and Steel, selling higher than before.

The market closed strong. Despite considerable realizing bids, prices were established in the last hour to the advantage of the market. The advance embraced over a score of issues with numerous 20 points.

CASES HEARD IN POLICE COURT

A Number of Offenders Appeared
Before Judge Enright This
Morning

"Marriage is a failure in this case," said Lawyer Daniel J. Donahue when arguing for the defense in the case of Edward T. Leahy charged with assault and battery on his wife which was heard before Judge John J. Pickman in police court this morning. The case was a peculiar one and after the long drawn out hearing the defendant was found guilty and a fine of $10 was imposed. He entered an appeal, but on advice of counsel he paid his fine. Lawyer John W. McEvoy appeared for Mrs. Leahy.

During the course of the testimony it was brought out that Mr. Leahy had brought suit through Lawyer George H. Allard against Melton Wolfgang, the famous pitcher of the Lowell baseball team, for alienation of affection. The defendant was charged with having struck his wife twice on Prescott street on the night of Aug. 24, between the hours of 6 and 7 o'clock. Mrs. Leahy said that her husband struck her twice in the face. She said that after the affair took place she entered a shoe store and tried to make her escape through another door. Later she said she and a friend of hers left the store and her husband followed them through Central, Merrimack, Worthen, Marker and other streets.

Miss Wilbrenner testified that she had kept company with Mrs. Leahy and was present on the night of the assault. She told of hearing an argument about a hat which Mrs. Leahy was wearing. She also said that she heard that the hat which the complainant wore was stolen.

Harold E. Stanley, who is a clerk at a Prescott street store, was a witness and testified that the women in question entered the store and were followed by the defendant. Patrolman Francis Moore testified to having been notified by the complainant that her husband had been bothering her. The defendant when placed on the stand denied that he had struck his wife.

Mr. Leahy denied that he had assaulted his wife but admitted that he had followed her through the streets. At the conclusion of the defendant's testimony the complainant was recalled and Lawyer Donahue questioned her relative to her acquaintance with a ball paver. The question was excluded.

Messrs. Donahue and McEvoy made arguments but after the court had considered the evidence in the case the defendant was found guilty and ordered to pay a fine of $10.

John J. Howard and Michael J. Connors were charged with attempting to commit larceny. It is alleged that they tried to take some clothing from the defendant's store and were followed by the defendant. Both defendants were found guilty and sentenced to two months in jail while Connors was sentenced to one month in jail.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Mayor Gaynor was served today with a summons in a $100,000 libel suit brought against him by Alderman Curran, chairman of the aldermanic committee investigating graft in the police department. Curran alleges that the mayor made remarks derogatory to his character in connection with the investigation.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Harry Nolan, a newly appointed secretary to the United States legation at Panama, was arrested recently on a charge of abducting a Scotch girl named Marion McVickar, the daughter of an innkeeper of Glasgow, was discharged today by Magistrate Murphy on a motion of Prosecutor Reynolds who stated that he was unable to obtain evidence necessary for a conviction.

According to Reynolds, the charge rested largely on the age of the girl. Miss McVickar claims that she is 18 years old. Nolan and the girl were arrested shortly after their arrival on the boat from Norfolk. The girl says she met Nolan on the boat. A technical charge of vagrancy against Miss McVickar will be dismissed and she will sail on Saturday for Scotland.

ELUDING DEPUTY SHERIFFS

CLEARFIELD, Pa., Sept. 17.—Eluding the posses of deputy sheriffs and citizens scouring the hills and swamps of Clearfield and Somerset counties since Sunday in search of him, John Keeler, the teamster who murdered John W. Rosner and wounded three of his clerks in Rosner's office Saturday night, walked into Clearfield today and surrendered.

GOVERNOR WILSON

Became a Good Indian at Sioux City Today—Also Spoke Before Students of Morningside College

SIoux CITY, Ia., Sept. 17.—Gov. Woodrow Wilson became a good Indian today with a proviso, however, that he was not as a consequence a dead Indian. The democratic nominee was elected a member of the tribe of the Sioux, a municipal organization, presented with a diamond pin and publicly initiated before a crowd that thronged the auditorium here.

The governor took the following pledge: "On the sacred tomahawk and pipe I solemnly and sincerely promise and vow that henceforth and forever I shall endeavor to be a 'good Indian,' whether successful or unsuccessful in the quest of moose or any other game and that no matter how exalted my station in life I shall neglect no opportunity to contribute to the welfare of the Tribe of the Sioux."

The governor also spoke before the students of Morningside college. He said that student life was not taken seriously enough in this country as compared with Europe, but he hoped that students everywhere would interest themselves more with the problems of the nation.

After luncheon Gov. Wilson motored to the interstate fair, where he was to deliver his principal address of the day.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 17.—Leslie M. Shaw denied he had assisted in the promotion of the Western Steel corporation, as alleged in affidavits filed in Seattle. Mr. Shaw's statement is as follows: "The Western Steel corporation was organized, capitalized and the bond issue made before I ever heard of any such concern. I had nothing whatever to do with the promotion of or procuring the Metropolitan loan. The services I rendered and the money I advanced were worth many times the value of the stock I received had the stock been worth par. I only received a fraction of what was due me under the contract."

Is Accused of Aiding a Defunct Concern

Though work on the excavating for the foundation of the new comfort station to be erected at the corner of Paige and Bridge streets was only started yesterday, great progress has been made and those who had occasion to pass the corner yesterday and again today were agreeably surprised to note such a remarkable transformation in so brief a period of time.

Yesterday, Commissioner Cummings ordered that the street be closed during the work and while this will inconvenience many, all are elated over the fact that the city is to be provided with such a convenient and all will gladly use another thoroughfare until the job is finished. Teamsters may enter the street from John street and go as far as the Merrimack Square theatre entrance, while the opposite side from where the building will be erected will remain open to pedestrians.

Contractor Patrick Condon, who has charge of the work, realizes that the blocking of the street will inconvenience many and while he has until the third of December to complete the structure, he will rush the construction along, and hopes to have it ready for occupancy before the stipulated time.

It is understood that there will be an attendant at the station at all times and that the apartment for the ladies will be equipped with emergency chests for sickness as well as all other modern conveniences.

For many years the erection of a station was discussed, and while all realized that it was essential, nothing was done until the present year.

DEATH CERTIFICATE

Deposited By Brother of Mrs. Szabo Shows That His Mother Died Two Years Ago in Vienna

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Franz Menschik, brother of Mrs. Rosa Menschik Szabo, who was drowned in Greenwood lake, Orange county, N. Y., while boating with Burton W. Gibson, a New York lawyer, arrived at New York from Europe today and went at once to the Austro-Hungarian consulate, where he deposited a death certificate showing that his mother had died in Vienna two years ago. Gibson, now in jail, charged with Mrs. Szabo's murder, declares that the mother is living and some time ago he produced a waiver of citation purported to be signed by her as beneficiary of Mrs. Szabo's estate, turning the property over to him. Franz Menschik speaks no English. He repeated that his mother had died in 1910 and that he had come here to testify not only against Gibson at the murder trial but to the removal of the lawyer's executor of his dead sister's estate. He will likely be a witness at Middletown, N. Y., on Sept. 20, when Gibson is arraigned for a hearing.

Introduces Reversible "Omni-bus"

Because of the narrow streets in several parts of the city of London it has been found impossible to use the ordinary motor omnibus on account of its comparative length and the attending difficulties of turning the bus around at the end of a trip. Some of the routes laid out for the motor buses are circular, thereby obviating the necessity for making complete turns. On some occasions it has been found impossible to map out circular routes, and a new type of bus is being carried out, which is reversible, the same as a trolley car. It can be steered from either end, conductor and driver simply changing places.

Lowell Boy Made Good Showing in Race Held in Charles River Basin Yesterday

Henry D. Sullivan, Lowell's champion swimmer, won fourth place in the race held in Charles River basin yesterday for the New England Amateur Athletic Union swimming championship. Despite the fact that the Lowell boy is a long distance swimmer and is better at long than short distances, he made a very creditable showing.

The course was in good condition and Sullivan took his time during the entire swim, not exerting himself in the least, while others became winded and dropped out before they covered the course.

George Meahan, the winner of the three-mile event in which Sullivan was a competitor was also a competitor in the recent race to the Boston light, but Meahan collapsed after swimming ten miles toward the light, while Sullivan accomplished the feat.

With a field of 11 starters pitted against him, Meahan took the lead at the start, closely followed by Sam Richards of Boston Light fame, and Henry Sullivan of Lowell. For the first half of the distance all the competitors were well matched, but at the first turning Meahan succeeded in gaining at least 80 yards on Richards, who in turn was the same distance in front of Sullivan. From this point the race resolved itself into a question of just how much the Brookline champion would win by. Richards tried hard to overcome the lead, which Meahan was rapidly increasing, but it was in vain. At the finish the Brookline swimmer finished almost half a mile ahead of Richards who beat Hurley by about the same distance.

Sullivan who was in sixth position at the start worked his way up to fourth place. He used the breast stroke all the way and although he is a swimmer who is accustomed to endurance and not speed he showed some speed which astonished some of the short distance swimmers. Henry is now setting in trim for the proposed swim of the English channel and although it is a dangerous attempt he feels confident that he can reach the French side of the water.

THE MAYOR GOES TO BUFFALO

Secretary Murphy of the Board of Trade Also Made Trip

Mayor James E. O'Donnell and Secretary John H. Murphy of the Lowell board of trade, left Lowell this morning for Buffalo, New York, where they will attend the annual convention of the American municipalities. As the mayor will be one of the speakers there, he will remain in Buffalo until after the convention, which will be held from Sept. 23 to 25, inclusive. The session will be a very important one and the Lowell board of trade is also the fact that Secretary Murphy, owing to his excellent work during the year was entitled to a vacation, voted unanimously to send him to the convention.

While in Washington, Mr. Murphy plans to combine business with pleasure, and will investigate conditions there, and upon his return will acquaint the members of the Lowell board of trade with what he saw in the national capital. After the session of the secretaries' convention Mr. Murphy will return to Boston to participate in the international convention of the chambers of commerce of the world. The latter session is the fifth annual, and it will be held in this country. The convention will be opened on Sept. 21 and will continue until the 25th of the month.

Delegates will be present from all over the world and the Boston Chamber of Commerce under whose auspices the convention will be held, is making elaborate arrangements for the affair. It is expected that there will be about 1000 delegates present, and during their stay in this country they will be royally entertained.

Lowell will be well represented at the session, the board of trade having made the following appointments: Delegates, George H. Harrigan, Harvey B. Greene and Clarence H. Nelson; alternate, Robert H. Jordan. John H. Murphy and Arthur L. Gray. The Lowell men expect to attend all meetings and plan to be at the opening reception to be held at the Copple-Plaza Hotel on Monday evening, Sept. 23. The next day, Tuesday, the business session will open.

Secretary Murphy will leave Boston on Thursday, Sept. 26 for Lowell, and he will complete plans for the entertainment of a number of the delegates in this city. It is expected that about fifty of the delegates, most of whom will be from abroad, will come to Lowell.

Those visiting this city will be shown through the city in automobiles and will dine at one of the local hotels. At the close of the convention Mr. Murphy will be back at his desk and work for the winter months will be resumed. The latter will also meet members of the board of trade, and several other individuals will be here, inasmuch as during the past month many prospective buyers have been in Lowell looking over locations.

Gone to Normal School
William F. Barrett, son of Mrs. Susan E. Barrett of 74 Bellevue street, left Lowell today for Salem, Mass., where he is to begin his studies at the Salem State Normal School. Young Barrett will take up the commercial teachers' course of three years. He is a very bright young man, having graduated from the Lowell High School last June. While at the latter school he was always among the leaders of his class, and completed his course with a high rank.

Collinsville Residents
A number of residents of Collinsville will go to Boston on Monday morning to appear before the Massachusetts street railway commission, when they will be given a hearing on a petition presented to the commission relative to free transfers from Collinsville to any part of the city of Lowell. The hearing will be held at 10:30 o'clock and it is expected will be largely attended.

The citizens of that district, according to someone from the village, have on different occasions petitioned the Bay State Street Railway Co. for free transfers to any part of the city from Collinsville, but it is said the company refused to grant what was wanted. Shortly afterward the citizens appealed to the selectmen, asking them to refuse a license to the railway company for the opening of Lakeview park, but this again did not prove successful and as a last resort they petitioned the Massachusetts street railway commission to have the railway company grant the said transfers from Collinsville to any part of the city. This question will be settled on Monday when the hearing will be held.

Marital Law
CHARLESTON, W. Va., Sept. 17.—General Charles D. Smith, commanding the West Virginia troops in the field, arrived today to carry on a possible order from Gov. Glasscock extending the martial law district in the Kanawha coal regions. The reports of the coal districts to Gov. Glasscock's plan for arbitration, it is stated by men who have come in today from the Paint Creek and Cabin Creek districts, was to give to the military troops in the coal districts a free hand in the coal fields, and to have the military authorities become manifest in open demonstration.

AUTOMOBILE NEWS

NEW CARS ARE ON EXHIBITION

Autos of Various Types Are Being Displayed—Dealers Expect Prosperous Season

The 1912 cars are here and the different models of the various cars are being exhibited by the different dealers and although there have been hundreds of prospects who have visited the different showrooms the sales have been limited but the dealers are not worrying over the prospects of the coming season for it bids fair to be even better than the season which just closed.

Mike Hale and Daniel O'Dea, salesmen at the Lowell Automobile corporation are two of the busiest men in the city at the present time. With the popular Buick, the Oakland and the Little Four they are kept busy demonstrating and negotiating for sales.

Charles E. Jeffrey, better known as "Lefty," has been a very conspicuous person in this city of late and if he keeps on hustling in the manner he started he will succeed in selling many Rambler cars. Almost every day he has a different car demonstrating to persons and he has many prospects on hand.

"Lefty" became popular in this city when he brought and demonstrated the police patrol in this city, but recently he resigned his position with the Thomas Co. and has joined the ranks of the Rambler Co.

Among the visitors in this city during the past week was Charles T. Rockwell, manager of the New England branch of the Rambler car. He and Jeffrey were demonstrating a five passenger Cross Country roadster.

The absence of good roads is the one great drawback which prevents the United States and Canada from being widely known among the motorists of the world, is the assertion made by Lord Montagu, editor of "The Car," in the current number of Great Britain's leading motoring publication.

Lord Montagu recently returned to London after a tour of several weeks in this country and believes that good roads will eventually be built, and that there is no reason why the number of automobiles used in North America should not run into the millions. With improved highways, this British authority who has evidently made a careful study of the situation, predicts that European tourists will flock to this country and enjoy its scenic beauties.

Automobilists and other users of the highways will read with interest Lord Montagu's views as expressed in his recent review of touring conditions here.

The influence of bad roads upon American automobilism is seen in the fact that the clearance between the ground and the lowest point of the chassis has to be greater than in Europe and the extra wear and tear on the machinery occasioned by holes, ruts, and boulders is greater, leading to greater strength being needed in certain directions. Even in the bigger cities, the driver has to be always on the qui vive for any street may be round full of holes and gnawing ruts. Therefore, refinement in springs or any really good body-work is almost impossible, owing to the wear and tear occasioned by these fearfully uneven surfaces.

The greatest street surface destroyers are the tramways, whose permanent way is generally shockingly maintained.

As yet the American and Canadian privately owned automobile is mostly used as a pleasure vehicle, and for little else, and not so much for utilitarian purposes as in Great Britain or Europe as a whole. In the towns the absence as a rule of horse-drawn cabs or taxicabs to be hired at a reasonable price has led to the extended use of private vehicles instead. Touring on a large scale is impossible, owing to the absence of good roads, but everywhere I found the desire to tour and the effort being made to find out where touring could take place.

And last but not least there is a great lack of reliable information as to the country as a whole, and no good maps are yet available for use except of districts near the larger towns. "The official Blue Book published in New York is the best guide as regards road information, but naturally a continent 3000 miles east and west by 2000 north and south has not been yet charted or explored from a road point of view.

"But road information and other requisites of touring are steadily growing, and before long touring in America in a motor car will be as common as it is in Europe. So far, automobilism in American and Canadian cities has had to fight an uphill battle against the strong influence of the tramway, which in some cases is not only urban, but suburban, and even rural in character. Trams run into districts far beyond the suburbs, and in many cases along roads which are almost impassable for other vehicles. In fact, the tramways are really ordinary electric railways in most cases, and their monopoly hitherto of transportation is difficult to break down, in course of time, no doubt, these conditions will change, and highway authorities will make those railways do their duty and carry out the terms of their contracts as regards road repair, for at present a great deal of the badness of urban and suburban roads is due to the street railways, and in time the motor-omnibus will come as well and then the fun will begin."

Lieut. Kirkbride Shot
SAN MATEO, Cal., Sept. 17.—Charles Kirkbride, an attorney of this city, and a lieutenant in the Eleventh company, Coast Artillery Reserve, known as the "millionaire company," was shot and probably fatally wounded early today by a young highway robber who robbed two cars of the electric line between this place and San Francisco. Kirkbride grappled with the robber and received a bullet in the head. The bandit escaped.

Committed Suicide
BALTIMORE, Sept. 17.—George C. Morrison, president of the Title Guaranty and Trust Co. of this city, committed suicide some time last night in one of the private rooms at the Baltimore Athletic club.

The report to the police says that Morrison ended his life with gas which he inhaled through a tube.

Collier Arrested
BOSTON, Sept. 17.—William Collier, formerly managing director of Hudd & Collier, Ltd., of Bristol, England, was arrested in Stoughton today on a charge of obtaining under false pretenses leather valued at $22,000. The concern from which Collier is alleged to have secured the leather are Samuel Barrow and Brother, Ltd., and George Angus & Co., Ltd., both of Bristol. Collier pleaded not guilty before United States Commissioner Hayes and was held for a hearing on Friday.

Gov. Marshall
Took a Special Train To Lagrange, Mo., Which Was His Former Home After Night's Journey

HANNIBAL, Mo., Sept. 17.—Governor Marshall of Indiana, democratic vice-presidential candidate, after a night's journey from St. Joseph this morning took a special train to Lagrange, Mo., 50 miles north. Lagrange was Governor Marshall's home for a short time. His family moved from Indiana when the future governor was about a year old. After a residence of about two years the Marshall family returned to Indiana because Gov. Marshall's father had positive views against slavery and many neighbors of the Marshalls owned slaves.

When the citizens of Lagrange heard that Gov. Marshall was to campaign in Missouri they planned a "homecoming" for him.

From Lagrange, Gov. Marshall will return to Hannibal, where he is to speak tonight. He will be in St. Louis tomorrow.

STOMACH BAD? BELCHING GAS AND SOUR FOOD? WANT TO FEEL FINE?

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; your head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Diaparsin and in five minutes you truly will wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diaparsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

ADMITTED TO THE MASS. BAR

Maurice E. Harris, Lowell Athlete, Now an Attorney-at-Law

Maurice E. Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Harris of 62 Lincoln street, this city, was today admitted to the bar at an attorney. He recently successfully passed the Massachusetts bar examination, but was not admitted to practice until today. He passed with a very high rank, being one of the leading men to pass the examination.

Mr. Harris is a product of the public schools of Lowell. He first attended the Abraham Lincoln grammar school, from which he graduated very young, being one of the star scholars of his class. He then entered the Lowell High school and graduated from there with honors in 1904. The Lowell boy then went to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology where he studied for two years. Later he entered the Boston University law school and graduated from there this year with the degree LL. B. Mr. Harris intends to practice in this city and will soon open an office.

Young Harris is well known locally as a ball player, having played in practically all of the money games that took place in this city for about five years. He was a member of the Sannet team in the days when that organization played the Lowell Americans from the South common, and some of the best amateur games ever seen in Lowell took place then. He later played with the Y. M. C. A.

MAURICE E. HARRIS.

Y. M. C. A. T. R. & T's and is at the present time a member of the Manhattan team. He is a very clever player and his timely swats have turned the tide in many games. Among all his friends he is very popular and is a perfect gentleman on and off the diamond. He also engaged in other athletic lines and in all was well known owing to his cleverness. His many friends will undoubtedly be glad to hear of his success in his chosen profession.

"JOE" CRISTO

Is Going to "Come Back" and Has Started Training For the Brockton Race

Whatever may be the height to which any universally acknowledged "top-liner" rises he generally tires of fame, and when he has become surfeited with success, starts the world with the announcement that he contemplates retirement. So it was with Jim Jeffries, before John L. Sullivan darkened the horizon; so it was with Tom Sayers, before he was with Sarah Bernhardt, before she concluded that she still excelled the cleverest in her profession; so it is with our own Joe Cristo, who now avers that he can come back and outrun the country's speediest Marathoners.

Of course every person with the smallest drop of sporting blood in their veins living in Lowell, Tewksbury, Chelmsford, Tyngsboro, Westford and other adjacent communities is aware that the coming of the Flits had announced his retirement. The official statement was printed several weeks ago in The Sun, and it is not breaking confidences to remark that the announcement caused grief and sorrow to all the inhabitants of these towns, particularly to the dogs. These affectionate creatures, you know, are always ready for a race of a mile, and when Joe, while training, skipped along the country roads they were at all times eager to indulge in a pursuit race with the development of his famous sprint.

But Joe now assures the public that he has joined the ranks of the "come-backs." Moreover, he has again started training. During the summer, when his health was somewhat impaired, he was wont to pass his evenings at the Casino and to cause the heart of many a fair one there to beat double quick time when he would escort her onto the floor, but all these frivolous pastimes have been passed up by Lowell's famous athlete and he assures his friends that his only thought these days is hard and conscientious road work. Almost any of these nights he may be seen sprinting along the boulevard toward Tyngsboro for fitting down the Rogers street turnpike to Tewksbury or following the pace of automobiles on the Princeton boulevard that runs into North Chelmsford. In this manner Joe is preparing for the Brockton Marathon race. Consequently, as a sort of an appetizer for the big event, he entered a ten mile run at Haverhill Saturday and finished well up with the leaders. There is but little doubt that he could have won this race but he wisely held down his speed so that he can catch his Boston rivals off their guard when the Brockton race takes place. In that famous running classic, he asserts, there is not the slightest doubt that he will bring the first prize home to the Spindle City.

Gov. Wilson's Trip

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—After Governor Wilson has concluded his present western trip he will find facing him a second campaign trip which will take him to New England and again into western territory. The itinerary of the new trip as arranged by the democratic national committee is as follows: Hartford on the afternoon of Sept. 25, Springfield and Barre, Mass., on the afternoon of Sept. 26, New Bedford on the evening of Sept. 26, Boston at a noon meeting at the hotel hall on Sept. 27, Bridgeport on the evening of Sept. 27, Atlantic City at the Good Roads congress on Sept. 30, Indianapolis at the national conservation congress on Oct. 3 and at St. Louis on October 4. Governor Wilson will be at Omaha on Oct. 5 during the afternoon and on the evening of the same day will be at Lincoln, Neb., where he will meet William J. Bryan.

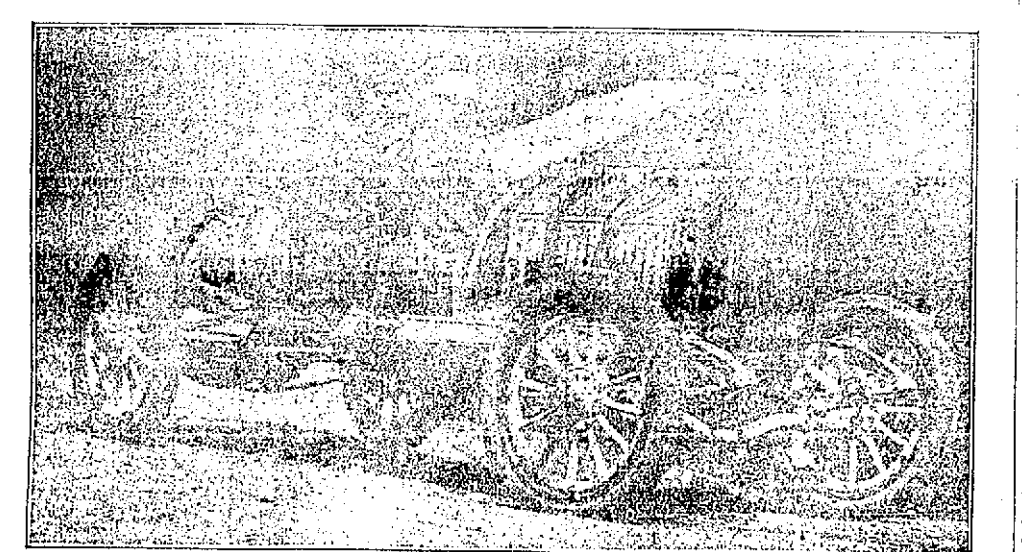

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sarro of Hildreth street have returned from visiting relatives in Montreal. They also traveled in New York and the White Mountains.

"Bobby" Burman Makes a New Speed Mark

He Drives Jumbo Benz at Marvellous Speed

Clipping a shade more than 24 second from the mile circular dirt track record, the Jumbo Benz, rated at 300 horse-power and driven by Bob Burman at Brighton beach, made a new mark for the speed trials to shoot at.

The new record was made in a special event staged for the purpose of showing the car under ideal speed conditions. The start was impressive, following an easy circuit of the track 100 miles an hour, cutting in close at the head of the stretch where Burman turned loose his motor and stretch with a roar came down to the stand and then out across the track at the 1000 yards mark. The new record was 48.02 seconds, which was made by the Jumbo Benz with Burman driving, last year. The speed at the time was the rate of a little less than 75.24 miles an hour.

ARE YOU PREJUDICED AGAINST ADVERTISING?

Most successful business men of today recognize that advertising is a necessity, and when well authorized facts are set forth in a dignified manner regarding an article they know by us to the public by means of advertisement. We believe the "ENGLISH HEMORRHOID TREATMENT" is the logical outcome of the patient and experience of a New York physician, covering many years of trial and experiment. So successful was he with this treatment, in his own practice and also in the practice of some of his professional friends, he established a laboratory for the wholesale preparation of this remedy with a view of introducing it to the afflicted public.

To accomplish this purpose, paid-for advertisement is necessary—as it could not be expected that publishers would accept a business proposition without compensation—the matter, how benevolent it is, is not the point. This is why you will, in advertisements of the "ENGLISH HEMORRHOID TREATMENT" in Lowell and other papers.

There is one point we desire to impress on the mind of every reader, and that is the absolute sincerity and truthfulness of every statement made by us to the public by means of advertisement. We believe the "ENGLISH HEMORRHOID TREATMENT" is sane and practical; that it will soon be used in hospitals throughout the country and will be prescribed by many good physicians and used in their practice. The "ENGLISH HEMORRHOID TREATMENT" is for sale at 15 drug stores in the city of Lowell alone. Every druggist has a supply of booklets on his counter for free distribution. The booklet is a very well written treatise on Hemorrhoids.

If interested, send to your nearest druggist for a booklet, or write direct to the English Hemorrhoid Laboratories, Inc., 1531 Broadway, New York, and they will send you one. If you are a sufferer it will interest you and perhaps help you may later find that it was "worth its weight in gold" to you. ASK YOUR DRUGGIST. ASK YOUR DOCTOR!

And Defeated St. Louis, 8 to 4
—Sweeney Pulled Several
Classy Plays

BOSTON, Sept. 17.—By bunting hits off Woodburn in the second inning of yesterday's game at the South End grounds the Braves won another game from St. Louis. The final score was 8 to 4.

Tyler started for Boston, but was relieved by Dickson in the fourth inning. An attack of the "needles" on the part of Manager Kling was the only plausible cause for the removal of Tyler, who had allowed but three hits, fanned four men and passed but two. Dickson, twirling the ball for the five innings he was on the mound, holding the Cardinals to four hits.

Woodburn, the ventriloquist, was the first victim of the Braves. Woodburn left early, but not until he had yielded seven runs. Derritt, a recruit, then took the reins and did not give the Braves a hit. Burke, the former Dodger, finished the game and gave a fine account of himself.

St. Louis put over its first run in the opening inning. Gilhooley flied to Jackson, but Lee Mace celebrated his return to the game by hitting safely to left and going all the way home on Whitely's double against the left field fence. Konechky lifted an infield fly which was taken by Devlin and then Evans fanned.

The Braves were unable to do anything with Woodburn in the first and second, but they did get a hit in the third, but a quick return by Evans held Titus on first. A wild pitch allowed Titus to score and then to take second. Devlin lined a single to left center. Maraville doubled to right, scoring Titus and putting Devlin on third and then Bill Bariden cleaned up with a single to left. On Tyler's hit to Whitely, Bariden was forced at second, but the ball was only misplayed for Jackson. Titus fanned and O'Rourke was passed. Sweeney shot a sharp single to left on which Tyler and Jackson counted and O'Rourke beat the little shortstop's throw to the plate, with the seventh run of the inning. Titus fanned a high corner. Snyder and then Devlin ended the round by going to Gilhooley.

The Cardinals scored a very cheap run in the third. Gilhooley was safe when O'Rourke's ball threw pulled Devlin off the base, but after Mace had fouled to Bariden, Whitely forced O'Rourke and then Bariden was forced at second. Kline forced Konechky's fly, and Whitely won all the way home from first and Konechky pulled up at second. After Evans had walked, a quick throw by Bariden to Sweeney caught Konechky off second.

Bariden began the fourth for St. Louis by walking, and after Rollins struck out, took third on a wild pitch. Snyder was given a pass, and then Tyler was called to the bench and Dickson went in. Ellis was sent in to bat for Peritt, and lifted a long fly to Jackson. Snyder and then Devlin ended the round by going to Gilhooley.

Boston was handed its eighth run on three errors. With one down in the eighth, Jackson was given a life when Burke fumbled his slow throw to left. Kline forced Konechky's fly, and Whitely won all the way home from first and Konechky pulled up at second. After Evans had walked, a quick throw by Bariden to Sweeney caught Konechky off second.

Matty Batted Hard
NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Chicago defeated New York in the second game of their series by a score of 4 to 3. The victory assures the Cubs of the victor's end of their year's series with the Giants. Mathewson was hit hard, though many hard drives were directed at the New York fielders. Archer's home run in the seventh resulted in Chicago's winning run. Lavender was knocked out of the box by New York in four innings, but the champions made only two hits off Reulbach.

Pittsburgh 2, Brooklyn 1.
BROOKLYN, Sept. 17.—Robinson led Brooklyn down with three hits yesterday. Rayon was very effective except in the second inning, when Wagner tripled and scored on Wilson's homer over the right field fence. Smith batted for Rayon in the seventh and singled. Kline did not allow a hit in the last two innings. Pittsburgh won by the score of 2 to 1.

Cincinnati Won Two Games
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 17.—Philadelphia was shut out in both games yesterday by Cincinnati. In the first game, the Reds won by a score of 6 to 0 and in the second game, Cincinnati won by a score of 5 to 0. In the first game, Cincinnati was hit hard and was taken out of the rubber in the fifth inning, during which Cincinnati made five runs. In this game Kniesly made three successive two-baggers.

Alexander's passes and a single by Phelan in the fourth inning gave the visitors the only tally of the second contest. Promme and Benton were very effective in both games.

EDDIE McDONALD
Of Boston Braves Released to Sacramento, Refuses to Report to Team

BOSTON, Sept. 17.—Notice was received yesterday at the Boston National League headquarters from President James E. Gaffney, who is in Cincinnati attending the drafting of minor league players, that Eddie McDonald had been sold to Sacramento, and that McDonald was to be given transportation, so that he could report on the coast at once.

McDonald's work with the Braves this season has been on a par with that of any third baseman in the league. He has made 111 hits, which gives him an average of .268 higher than the majority of infielders, has scored 68 runs, which is a most creditable performance when it is taken into consideration that he was with a tall end club, a clever, ready base runner, having stolen 20 bases this season, and has played a wonderfully strong game on the defense.

McDonald was the most surprised man in town when he learned that he had been released to Sacramento, but it was also a great surprise to the fans and all the ball players on both the Boston and St. Louis clubs, who expressed their opinion of the sale in anything but mild terms. At the game yesterday, there was more talk about the loss of McDonald than there was about the game which was in progress. McDonald will not go to Sacramento, in spite of the fact that Gaffney ordered him to report at once, but will remain around Boston for a week or so before he returns to his home in Albany, N. Y.

Catcher Drafted by St. Louis Americans—
Other Changes

CATCHER LAVIGNE.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 17.—Seventy-seven minor league players were yesterday drafted by major league clubs at the annual meeting of the National Baseball commission in this city. Of this number 47 will enter the American league, either during the remainder of this season or the beginning of the next, while the National league, through the fortune of the draw, obtained 30 men.

Of the individual teams, the St. Louis Americans were by far the most fortunate inasmuch as 15 men were obtained by this team. The next to approach the St. Louis Americans in point of numbers is the Chicago National league club, which secured seven men by draft. The Washington, Detroit and Chicago Americans and Cincinnati and Boston Nationals each drew six lucky slips from the hat. The Philadelphia Americans got five, while the Cleveland and New York Americans the St. Louis Nationals obtained four men. The Pittsburgh Nationals got three, Philadelphia and Brooklyn Nationals two each, while the Boston Americans and the New York Nationals drew blanks and did not secure a man.

The contest for the more valuable players was more keen this year than usual. Almost every man obtained by the class AA or class A teams was drafted by two to 13 teams.

The visitors, baseball presidents and managers were entertained at a banquet by the Cincinnati Athletic club last night as the guests of Chairman Herrmann of the commission.

The following drafts from the American association were the first allowed by the commission:

From Columbus, Packard, by Cincinnati Nationals; Indianapolis, McKechnie, by New York Americans; Kansas City, Powell, by Chicago Nationals; Louisville, Stanberry, by St. Louis Nationals; Milwaukee, Blackburn, by Chicago Nationals; Minneapolis, Clymer, by Chicago Nationals; St. Paul, McKechnie, by Boston Nationals; Toledo, Grady, by Philadelphia Americans.

Drafts from the International league were next taken up by the commission and are as follows:

From Baltimore, Derrick, by Detroit Americans; Buffalo, Schang, by Philadelphia Americans; Jersey City, Ronald, by Washington Americans; Montreal, Connolly, by Washington Americans; Newark, Dent, by New York Americans; Providence, Works, by Cincinnati Nationals; Rochester, Doherty, by Philadelphia Nationals; Toronto, Fisher, by Brooklyn Nationals.

Drafts from Pacific Coast league follow:

Los Angeles, Severance, by St. Louis Americans; Oakland, Patterson, by St. Louis Americans; Portland, Klawitter, by Detroit Americans; San Francisco, Gideon, by Philadelphia Americans; Vernon, Anew, by St. Louis Americans; Sacramento, Orr, by Philadelphia Americans.

Drafts from the Southern league were as follows:

From Birmingham, Player Tance, by St. Louis Americans; Chattanooga, Batelli, by St. Louis Americans; Montgomery, Walcott, by Chicago Americans; Nashville, Welch, by New York Americans; New Orleans, Wagner, by Brooklyn Nationals; Atlanta, Harrison, by New York Americans.

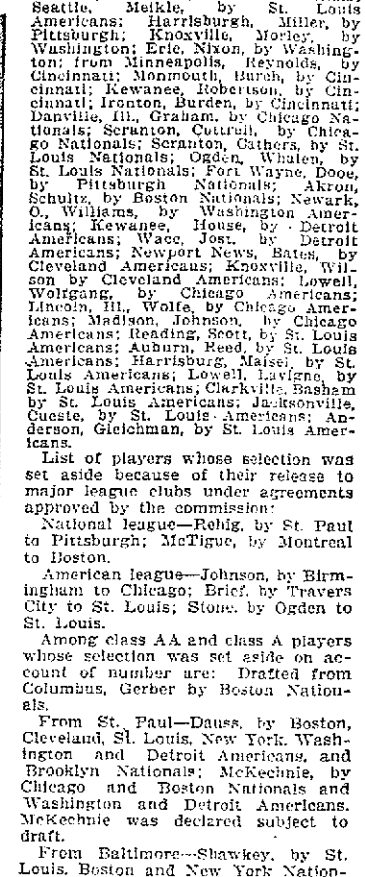

Drafts from Western league:

Delev, Geall, by Cleveland Americans; Omaha, Keeling, by Chicago Americans; Lincoln, Bergholmer, by Chicago Nationals; Des Moines, Korea, by Chicago Nationals.

Other miscellaneous drafts allowed by the commission from various clubs in leagues other than class AA and class A were as follows:

From Port Wayne, Cooper, by Boston Nationals; York, Pa., Craig, by Chicago Nationals; Kewanee, Dechan, by Washington Nationals; Barab, Washington, Roanoke, Gordon, by Detroit Americans; Graham, by Chicago Americans; Morrisstown, Grubb, by Cleveland Americans; Keokuk, by Chicago Nationals; Tacoma, Lottman, by Pittsburgh Americans; Strand, by Boston Nationals; Waco, Taft, by Philadelphia Americans; Cleveland, Tenn, Thrasher, by St. Louis Americans.

From Oakland, Mitts, by Cleveland, St. Louis and Detroit Americans, and Boston and Chicago Americans, and Boston and New York Nationals. Patterson was declared subject to draft.

From Vernon, Brown, by Boston Nationals and Detroit Americans.

The Cincinnati "Enquirer" the other day printed the following interesting item: "It is rumored that Mrs. Britton, owner of the Cardinals, is negotiating with Bob Hedges with a view to playing in the American league grounds in St. Louis next season. The grandstand at Cardinal park is a very old and poor one and the business done this year will not warrant building a new one."

President Elbets of the Brooklyn club is said to be negotiating for the sale of his stock in the Newark International league club. He will neither deny nor affirm the statement, and declined to talk about the year that Leo McGinnity also was trying to get out of the club.

"Hi" Henry Labelle, the former Lynn New England league team pitcher, and later an umpire in this circuit, is making a big hit with the fans in the way he handles the job of umpire at the United Shoe games in Beverly. When he makes a decision there is no use for a player to argue the point; they know "Hi" is boss.

The 53d regiment received its baptism of fire at South Mountain on Sept. 14, 1862, and three days later, 287 men crossing the Antietam Creek to assault the right of Lee's army, commanded by Lee's son, the regiment suffered heavy losses at Frederickburg on Dec. 13, 1862. It was with Grant at Vicksburg, was ordered to the relief of Union people of East Tennessee, being held in Knoxville by Long street. When the siege was raised the regiment returned to the Army of the Potomac and took part in the first day's fighting in the Wilderness. Lord was captured by the Confederates at North Anna.

His prison life, which lasted until February, 1865, was passed in Libby, Andersonville, Salisbury and Milan. In transferring the prisoners from one point to another Lord escaped but was recaptured in four days.

He was exchanged finally and returned to his regiment to take part in the final assault at Petersburg, the subsequent pursuit of Lee and his surrender at Appomattox.

Judge Loring knew something of the history of the 35th Massachusetts, as Judge Lathrop with whom he served several years in the supreme judicial court was the captain of Co. I of that regiment, raised in Dedham the home of Judge Lathrop.

GOVERNOR FOSS ON IMPROVING WATERWAYS

That Governor Foss takes up the matter of making the Merrimack river navigable should not cause local republicans to treat the matter as a political issue. The project, as the governor says is one that deeply concerns this city and its future as a textile centre. His advocacy of a state appropriation to start the work is helpful of course and it should not be sneered at by anybody interested in the future of Lowell.

"Manchester, Marseilles and other great world ports," said the governor, "are fully 75 miles from the sea. Lowell and the towns on the Merrimack are just beginning their careers as industrial centers and with the Merrimack made navigable to the sea, a wonderful future would open itself up to you. The development of our waterways must be carried forward."

The governor evidently realizes the vast possibilities for good involved in the question of making the river navigable. Nothing but political opposition or selfish motives can lead to opposition to the movement if properly conducted. That is why the people of Lowell should furnish all the assistance they can in promoting the movement and at least in showing that there is a popular demand for it. If our mills are tied up with water power companies whose interests might be somewhat affected, that fact should be understood; but were the river made navigable the benefit to be derived therefrom would far exceed the disturbance caused by changing a few bridges and offering a few landings for the public good.

In twenty years hence Lowell, Lawrence and Haverhill will be doing a large freight business on the river, and this will be their only salvation against the competition of other cities that can freight their coal and their raw material to their doors by water.

It is difficult to understand the apparent indifference of the mills and of some of the merchants of Lowell to this improvement. Any policy of indifference or opposition on their part will cause them to be set down as standing against the best interests of our city. If by such a policy they should block this movement in the incipient stage, they will find themselves strongly condemned by public sentiment in this city and the blame will be placed where it properly belongs.

ALL THE SUSPECTS NOW ARRESTED

The two men necessary to complete the chain of evidence without a missing link in the New York murder case, have been arrested, and now there can be no escape from conviction. The whole story will doubtless come out during the course of the trial, and much that has been told to the district attorney under promise of immunity will probably be contradicted. The ingenuity of the detectives in capturing "Gyp the Blood" and "Lefty Louie" is worthy of careful consideration of those who think they can commit crimes and escape arrest. The leading characters now under arrest are directly or indirectly responsible for the murder of Herman Rosenthal are "Whitey" Lewis, "Dago" Frank, "Gyp" and "Lefty" who are believed to have done the shooting, Harry Vailon and Bridgie Webber, two gamblers; Jack Ross, collector of protection money; "Sam" Schepps, paymaster of the assassins; Louis Shapiro, chauffeur and owner of the car that carried the gunmen to and from the scene of the tragedy; Lieut. Becker, who plotted the murder and by whose orders it was carried out; and Jack Reich, alias Sullivan, the friend of Becker, who assisted in carrying out the details.

It is quite probable that Becker with four or five of the others will be convicted and pay the penalty of their crime. The murder has excited so much indignation, not only on account of the motive but the bold and defiant manner in which it was committed, that there will be no public sympathy for any of the culprits.

Not only was this gang engaged in the promotion of every kind of vice but they had actually demoralized the police department so that a large proportion of the men became the defenders of vice and crime and received large amounts for the protection thus afforded to lawbreakers. It is to be hoped that for the benefit of society, for the purification of politics and the elimination of graft, all who may be found guilty will be visited with the extreme penalty of the law. Nothing else will vindicate the majesty of the law in New York, in which it has been trampled under foot by the men who are employed for its enforcement.

THE I. W. W. LEADERS

The Haywood meeting on Boston common Sunday attracted a vast concourse of people, ostensibly to protest against the further detention of Ettor and Giovannitti in jail on the charge of conspiracy during the Lawrence strike. A peculiar phase of the situation was, that Haywood was to surrender to the Lawrence police, having been indicted on a similar charge. The meeting was a demonstration of his influence with the masses, for he surely could not expect that the Essex county authorities would liberate the prisoners with the day set for their trial but a couple of weeks away. It will be difficult to get a Lawrence jury to convict any of these men. Haywood rather likes the experience of surrendering to the authorities in Lawrence, for as head of the I. W. W. he can point to Lawrence as the scene of the greatest victory won by the organization. The dynamite plot greatly increased the popularity and prestige of the leaders, and this will make their conviction more difficult. Should all three leaders be acquitted the result will doubtless be the signal for the greatest demonstration yet held by the I. W. W. It is a mistake to give these men an opportunity to say that they have been unjustly treated by the courts. That only helps them in their crusade and brings in more funds to be used in their behalf. The I. W. W. could accomplish much good if it was subject to more conservative leaders.

ROOSEVELT THE ONLY ONE?

Out in Milwaukee the Methodist Bishop Quale seems to have a pretty accurate opinion of Theodore Roosevelt. He told of a Chicago minister who in a sermon said the country had but one honest man. Bishop Quale took instant exception to the statement, claiming that he knew at least one other, meaning himself. In reference to Roosevelt Bishop Quale said:—

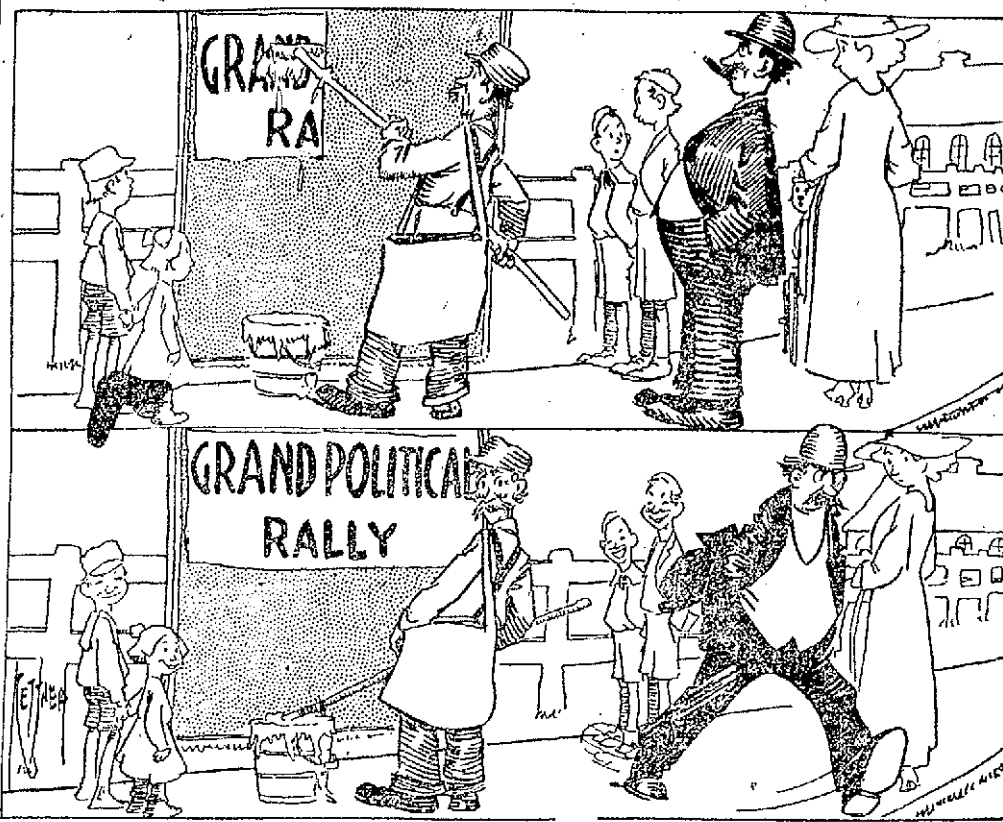

"People are going wild over politics. They are talking of crises. I tell you that when a man is out of a job and wants a job and can't get a job he takes time to tell the people in a loud voice that there is no other man but himself who is fit for the job—everybody else is a rascal. When you hear a man say that, just laugh at him."

Another minister in a sermon denounced Roosevelt as a demagogue and praised Taft as a wise and conservative leader, while a third denounced both Taft and Roosevelt and said Wilson is the man. Thus even the churches that preach politics are as much at odds on the merits of the several candidates as are the politicians who discuss the same topics according to their lights and preferences on the street corners.

INEXPERIENCED OR CARELESS AUTOISTS

The auto accident on Merrimack street Sunday morning would seem to indicate either reckless driving or lack of experience in running such a powerful machine. Had not the auto struck the trolley pole it would probably have crashed into the front of the drug store for which it was headed. It seems that from some cause or other there are a great many people allowed to drive autos before they have acquired the expert knowledge or the practical experience necessary to enable them to run the machine without danger of killing the occupants or somebody on the road through sheer stupidity. This fact is attested by frequent accidents that cannot be explained in any other way.

In spite of all precautions, all warnings and all opportunities, the smooth paving will run into the winter with the prospect that the work will not be finished.

POLITICS! POLITICS!

Seen and Heard

With the approaching presidential election after what might be called a strenuous and "zoologically conducted campaign," if you give any consideration to the unusual party names, the enthusiasm stirred up by the far famed world's baseball series, and last but not least, the delightful game of hide and seek which dear old "Gyp the Blood" and gentle "Lefty Louie" have been enjoying with police authorities about the country, nobody can justly complain of lack of excitement in the east. At present the "Wild and Woolly West" of storied fame doesn't seem to have a look in.

Practice work of the various football teams thus far seems to demonstrate the advantage of the new changes in the rules. Another down has been added, giving a team four chances instead of three to make ten yards. To encourage the more open play, restrictions have been lifted from the forward pass and it may now be used anywhere on the field. Thus by making the open style of football more popular and making speed a more important factor in the game than weight and brute force, the danger of injury is greatly lessened.

A countryman named Street owned a runaway cow. As the season advanced Street was compelled to make several long pilgrimages into the country for the reprehensible animal.

On one occasion, the trail led on and on until Street had entered the environs of a town where a new trolley car system was installed. Just as the cow-hunter turned a corner in the outskirts, the car lumbered up and the conductor called out:

"Dear Street!"

The owner of the estrayed cow stopped in his tracks and bawled back at the men in blue and gold:

"No, darn her, I ain't good her; an' when I do it won't be good fer her blamed old hide either."

CLIMBING

O, once there was a kitten,
Tom Brown was his name,
And how you see him still?
Before he hid for fame.

Somewhere he'd heard or read it,
"Climb upward," "Do not stop!"
And greedily to his
Determined to reach the top.

And so he climbed and clambered,
Nor downward looked,
While feet beneath him yammered
And hoped to see him fall.

Up, up, he crept, undaunted,
And at the top he found
The things he loved and wanted
Were somewhere on the ground.

Advice may lurk in laughter,
Remember, ere you climb,
That something sure you're after
Is near you all the time.

Automobile Science Course Established

The first university in this country to recognize the importance of the motor car and to place it on an equal footing with the building of bridges, railroads and tunnels, and chemistry and other sciences, is the University of Southern California. This new course is for the benefit of automobile mechanics, engineers and designers, and the first professor of automobile science is Stanley Smith C. E., who has just been appointed to the chair. While he will deliver lectures on the various subjects properly belonging to automobile science, he will specialize on motors and their efficiency, steering, power and rotary valve types, etc.

Military Exemption for Motorists

For the purpose of facilitating the transportation of the general staff in case of war, the French military authorities have decided to give those who own cars of medium horse-power, and who are able to prove their ability of driving them and taking care of them as far as tires and emergency road repairs are concerned, a special opportunity to discharge their military duties in an agreeable manner. Instead of being compelled to drill with the other conscripts, such owners must sign an agreement with the authorities that they will turn over to the government immediately following mobilization the vehicles described in their application of this sort of service. At all maneuvers the car must be at the service of the military authorities, to be driven by the owner himself under orders from the officers.

$80,000,000 Invested

According to statistics collected by T. C. Martin, chairman of the committee on progress to the National Electric Light convention at Seattle, recently, there are at present invested no less than $80,000,000 in electric vehicles, of which sum about $25,000,000 represents the outlay for trucks and delivery vehicles, and $55,000,000 the value of pleasure cars.

WOMAN'S BODY FOUND IN RIVER

A Brutal Crime Indicated by Crushed Jaw and Wound at Base of Skull

MANCHESTER, Sept. 17.—The body of a woman of 35 years, who, it is believed, was murdered aboard a yacht off the coast and then cast overboard, was picked up in the tide waters of Manchester river at 7 o'clock last night.

Everything connected with the case points to a brutal crime. The woman, who has not yet been identified, was apparently shot down from behind and then beaten to death.

The body, which had been in the water several days, was discovered by Capt. Charles Olsen floating head down in the water. At the time Olsen was aboard his yacht, off the Walter L. Caldwell shipyard. He went ashore, and securing the assistance of a sailor, Joseph Slade, returned to his yacht.

The two men together managed to pull the body aboard with a gaff. It was placed in the stern, covered with canvas and brought ashore.

The police were notified and a detail was made to guard the body as it lay on the beach. They were kept busy warding off a crowd of morbid spectators, who, carrying lanterns, fought to get a glimpse of the victim of the tragedy.

The only clue to her identity was furnished by one of these. As a result Chief of Police Fred B. Converse notified Francis A. Brace of Manchester, whose daughter, Mrs. Benjamin Wade, left Manchester, four weeks ago.

Brace viewed the body and declared that it was not his daughter.

"This talk about my daughter being missing is all rot," he declared. "I have heard from her only recently."

The body was finally moved to a local undertaking establishment at 10 o'clock.

It was viewed by Medical Examiner Sweeney, who refused to say whether the case was one of murder or not, although he did say the wound in the head looked like a bullet wound.

The face of the dead woman was distorted, the lower jaw was crushed in and the tongue tightly clenched between the teeth.

She was apparently about 35 years old. The police description gives her height as 5 feet 4 inches and her weight as 140 pounds. She was apparently a woman who had worked, for her clothing—a cream colored skirt and a white waist—were plainly made, and her hands were roughened as if by house, or possibly mill work.

WEST NEWBURY, Sept. 17.—Three members of the Merrimack Valley waterway board were badly hurt last night when their automobile crashed into a telegraph pole while going down Sawyer's Hill on the Newbury road last night. The injured:

Lewis R. Hovey, Haverhill, legs and face cut.

A. H. Sutherland, Lawrence, dislocated hip and possible internal injuries.

Richard J. McCormick, Haverhill, cut and bruised.

The chauffeur and a friend, whose names are not known, escaped unhurt. Hovey and McCormick, after receiving medical treatment at a farmhouse near the scene of the accident, were brought to their homes, while Sutherland, who is president of the Lawrence board of trade, was left behind under the care of physicians who consider his condition serious.

As the automobile was going down Sawyer's Hill the chauffeur lost control of the machine and it shot across the road into a ditch, snapping off a telegraph pole and overturning. As a result of the accident the work of the board, which had many hearings scheduled, will probably be delayed for several weeks.

Huge Racing Car Coming

A specially built, 300 horse-power Benz racing car soon will make its appearance in America. The car is said to have been purchased by a well-known race promoter and will probably be driven by Robert Burman, holder of the world's record for straight-away speeding, in an endeavor to lower his own record of 25 seconds for the mile. The car is reported to have made a mile in 21 seconds, or almost three miles a minute.

Yellowstone Park and Automobiles

Representative Rucker has petitioned the United States government to open Yellowstone Park to automobiles. This famous park is still closed to motorists, and it is claimed that there is no valid reason why it should remain so. The present-day automobile is a different thing from the unreliable noisy contraption which was excluded from the park years ago. There appears to be a growing disposition on the part of those responsible to open the park to tourists and their motor cars.

JILTED BY YOUNG MAN

A Haverhill Young Girl Tried to End Life

HAVERHILL, Sept. 17.—Despondent over being jilted by a young man with whom she had been keeping company, Miss Edna Tufts, aged 17 years, tried to end her life last night by drowning in the Merrimack river, but was rescued by Joe Albanese.

Miss Tufts confided to the police that a month ago she was informed by the young man that his parents objected to her and this caused her despondency. At the time she fell in a dead faint and it was an hour before she revived. The conversation between the man and girl occurred near the county bridge, and it was at this same point that she was seen last night evidently waiting for someone.

Friends who know of her infatuation for the young man told her that he would not be out again last night, as he had gone home and intended remaining there.

Miss Tufts then walked across the river street end of the bridge and as she seemed to be acting strangely, the friends watched her. They saw the young woman turn down toward the river bank, and when under the bridge Miss Tufts jumped into the water. She was sinking the second time when Joe Albanese, who was attracted to the scene, hastened to her rescue, bringing her ashore.

The young woman was hysterical and, although resisting, was removed to a drug store nearby and was then taken to the Haverhill city hospital.
